EMPIRE CONFERENCE IN OTTAWA SET FOR NEXT YEAR

Manslaughter Charge Laid In Car Crash Case

Inquiry On Death Of Two Adjourned; No Evidence Taken

Frank Lidstone, Shirley, V.I., Faces Serious Count as Result of Fatal Accident on Sooke Highway Early Yesterday; Inquest Deferred Pending Recovery of Miss Jean Bruce, Now in Hospital; Transformer in Case Shown to Jury.

Frank Lidstone, Shirley, V.I., alleged driver of the car which carried Mrs. Elizabeth Leylander, formerly Miss Elizabeth Bayley, and William Lidstone to death on the Sooke Highway early yesterday morning, was formally charged with manslaughter in the Provincial Police Court this morning.

The accused was given his freedom on posting of $5,000 bail in two sureties of $2,500 each.

The inquest on the double tragedy was opened at the B.C. Funeral Parlors this morning and adjourned for two weeks, pending recovery of Miss Jean Bruce, who lies critically injured in St. Joseph's Hospital as a result of the accident. Her evidence will be necessary at the inquest.

On the manslaughter charge Lidstone was remanded until next Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, when, it is understood, a date for the hearing would be set. The case will probably be deferred until after the inquest.

NATIVE SON

Bail was not opposed by the Crown. Stuart Henderson, who appeared for Lidstone, made application for bail in the sum named, pointing out that the accused was a native son with all his family living here.

The actual wording of the charge follows: That on the thirteen day of November at the nine-mile point on the Colwood Road in the county of Victoria, did unlawfully slay and kill William Lidstone and Elizabeth Leylander, and did thereby commit manslaughter."

At the inquest this morning T. Hammond was sworn in as foreman of the coroner's jury, composed as follows: Mr. Hammond, F. W. Tuffrey, H. M. Simmons, C. Johns, W. G. Lithgoe and H. Mundie.

Mr. Henderson immediately suggested that an adjournment be taken, asking if an autopsy on the bodies would be held. Miss Bruce, a half-sister of Mrs. Leylander, was in a critical condition in hospital and her evidence would be needed, he said. He suggested an adjournment for one week, when a definite date could be fixed.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION

When Dr. Hermann Robertson gave the information that the woman's condition was still serious, Coroner E. C. Hart fixed the date as Friday, November 28 at 11 o'clock in the morning.

Prior to adjournment, A. D. King, solicitor for the B.C. Electric Railway Co., said there had been rumors of the connection of one of the company's electrical transformers with the accident. The jury viewed this object.

HUNG FROM POLE

The transformer measures about sixteen by twelve inches, and according to the explanation given by an expert, was attached to the pole by means of two steel arms which hung over the cross-bar. The impact of the car had apparently jarred the arms off the bar, he explained. The arms were bent at the bottom where the transformer landed after falling from the pole.

Two Planes Coming From California to Join Search For Renahan Party

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 14. — Unreported since Tuesday, when they left Prince George on their flight to Atlin, W. A. Joerss and R. I. Van Der Byl, Vancouver airmen, are thought to have started their search for Captain E. J. A Burke and his two companions from a base at Dease Lake, approximately 200 miles east of Atlin, where there is no means of communication with the outside world. The fliers left Vancouver last Sunday, accompanied by E. A. Cressy, air engineer.

Joerss, who was appointed by the Vancouver aviation search committee to take active charge of operations out of Atlin, informed his employers, the Airland Manufacturing Company, he might not report for several days after leaving here. Therefore, no fear is felt regarding his party, which will

London Press Gives Unfavorable Reception to Lord Irwin's Government Scheme

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 14.—The voluminous report and recommendations of Lord Irwin, Viceroy of India, and his government as to a future status for India are given a most unfavorable reception by the London press.

The Times, while admitting the report, which is called a "dispatch," and was made public yesterday evening, is of manifest importance, says it need excite neither enthusiasm nor anxiety, adding that "the criticism which must occur to everyone who reads it in the light of modern thought is that its outlook is altogether too narrow to help the conference in its main decision.

"Its authors are too near the ground to see the horizon. . . . It is a little depressing that at a moment when the whole destiny of India is under review they should almost have gone out of their way to discourage hopes of a new and larger experiment in constitutional progress."

PROPOSED NEW FISHING LAWS ARE DRAWN UP

Appointment of Warden and Staff to Supervise Sporting Fishing Advocated

Committee To-day Drafts Recommendations to Be Presented to Federal Minister

Recommendations aimed to improve sporting fishing in British Columbia, to be presented to Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Federal Minister of Fisheries, upon his visit to Victoria next week, were drawn up to-day by the special committee appointed at yesterday evening's meeting of Victoria anglers in the Chamber of Commerce.

The local committee will have an audience with the Federal minister and present their recommendations.

Those composing the committee are: E. L. Tait, chairman; W. N. Lenfesty, Frank Higgins, K.C., R. Monteith and H. D. Paterson. Senator G. H. Barnard is an ex-officio members of the committee and attended to-day's meeting.

The recommendations follow:

1. That a special warden and staff to supervise sporting fishing within the province be appointed under the jurisdiction of the chief supervisor, his duties to include:

(a) Supervision of hatcheries, nurseries, propagation and distribution of game fish.

(b) The setting aside of certain specified waters for fly fishing only.

(c) General supervision and enforcement of regulations governing sporting fishing.

2. That an annual license fee be collected from residents, alien residents and non-residents over the age of fourteen years, differentiating between such classes, the proceeds to be used exclusively in the administration of sporting fishing.

3. The committee recommends the amendment of the regulations regarding grilse fishing by defining a grilse as a salmon weighing less than three pounds in the round or two and a half pounds dressed with the head on. (See section 21, subsection 23 of the regulations of the Fisheries Act) and allowing the taking of ten grilse per man or twenty grilse per boat, and five salmon per man or ten salmon per boat per day; but so that not more than twenty fish in all of grilse and salmon together shall be taken by any one boat.

4. That the limit of the number of bass or trout to be taken per day be reduced to fifteen per man, and that it shall be unlawful to have more than twenty-five fish in possession of one man at any time.

Fog and Darkness Delay DO-X On Bordeaux Flight

GREAT PLANE SHORT OF GOAL AT BORDEAUX

Le Bourget, France, Nov. 14.—A radio message from Bordeaux tonight said the Germany flying boat DO-X alighted near Sables d' Olone, 170 miles north of Bordeaux, at 5.05 p.m.

Bordeaux, France, Nov. 14.—The progress of the German flying boat DO-X down the French Atlantic seaboard toward Bordeaux caused officials here some anxiety as darkness and fog came on and the giant plane had not yet reported over Rochefort.

It was believed the DO-X would probably be forced to alight in Hourtin Pond, just off the Atlantic shore and separated from the sea by a narrow tongue of land. That would preclude a journey up the Gironde estuary to Bordeaux, which is thirty miles inland.

NO SIGNALS HEARD

None of the French radio stations along the coast had heard signals from the DO-X and it was thought the plane's wireless must be out of order.

The pilot of the great plane had been taking no chances flying over land, but had been keeping carefully along the coast line even though that made a longer trip.

PASSED USHANT

Bordeaux, France, Nov. 14.—The German flying boat DO-X, bound for Bordeaux, flew over the Ushant light at 3.05 p.m., and twenty minutes later passed over Douarnenez as it coasted down the western coast of France.

Everything seemed well on board. The ship was flying low.

Until word of the passage over Ushant, the DO-X had dropped out of sight for a time and there was some uneasiness here, which was quickly dispelled.

LEFT CALSHOT

Calshot, Eng., Nov. 14.—The DO-X, giant German flying boat, took off from here at 11.45 a.m. (3.45 a.m. Victoria time) to-day, for Bordeaux, France, 420 miles away, in continuation of its flight to New York.

The flying boat made three or four unsuccessful attempts to get into the air before it succeeded in breaking away from the calm, smooth surface of the channel. Aboard were passengers, officers and crew, totaling twenty-seven.

From Bordeaux the plane is scheduled to take off for Lisbon, and from there to fly by way of the Azores and Bermuda.

Rumor Says Meighen Is To Join Board of C.N.R.

Reported Former Federal Premier Will Work With Sir Henry Thornton and His Colleagues as Chairman of the Directors

Canadian Press

Brockville, Ont., Nov. 14.—The Brockville Recorder and Times today printed a Toronto dispatch reporting a persistent rumor in circulation in Toronto that Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen would be asked to accept the chairmanship of the Canadian National Railways, the same rumor holding that with two or three exceptions, the new board of directors of the railways would be practically a new one.

Appointment of the former Premier of Canada to the chairmanship of the board would not interfere with the duties of Sir Henry Thornton, who would remain as president of the system.

OTTAWA EXPECTS CHANGES

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—The general understanding in government circles here is that some changes in the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways will be made soon after Premier R. B. Bennett returns from Europe. Officials here declined to comment on the rumor Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen would be asked to accept the chairmanship of the board.

RUMOR HEARD BEFORE

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Canadian National Railway officials here to-day declined to comment on a Brockville dispatch which intimated Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, K.C., might be appointed chairman of the board of directors of the railway system. Such a rumor had been previously published, it was pointed out, but no indication was available as to the Federal Government's plans.

APPEAL MADE FOR FEDERAL RELIEF AID

Province Finds Subsidized Work Programme Insufficient For Unemployed

Demand For Direct Relief Grant Based on Prairie Influx

The British Columbia Government yesterday telegraphed to the Federal authorities a third and most emphatic demand for immediate contribution to this province of a substantial appropriation from the $4,000,000 direct relief fund authorized by Parliament. The telegram was sent after a careful inquiry by a special committee of the cabinet had shown the urgency of special aid being extended a number of centres, notably Vancouver, Nanaimo and Fernie.

Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Labor, as chairman of the committee, stated this morning that, in company with Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, he had devoted two-thirds of yesterday to hearing delegations and considering written appeals for special aid supplemental to the assistance contributed towards public works programmes.

This was arranged at a conference between heads of the great Canadian banks and Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister, this forenoon. The borrowing was made from Canadian banks.

Executive officers of the Bank of Commerce, the Bank of Montreal, the Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Nova Scotia were present at to-day's meeting.

PREMIERS OF EMPIRE END 1930 SESSIONS

Concluding Imperial Conference in London, Delegations Agree to Meet in Ottawa in 1931 to Work Out Empire Trade Scheme They Failed to Draft This Time.

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.

London, Nov. 14.—The Imperial Conference of 1930 ended to-day, to meet again in Ottawa within twelve months on a date "to be mutually agreed upon." The Ottawa conference will continue negotiations for the development of empire trade where they have been left by the London conference.

In the interval, the British and Dominion Governments will further confer and the British Government has given an undertaking that "the existing preferential margins accorded by the United Kingdom to other parts of the Empire will not be reduced for a period of three years, or pending the outcome of the Ottawa conference, subject to the right of the United Kingdom to fix its budget from year to year.

The effect of this guarantee is that Great Britain will not, for three years at least, cancel the tariff preferences she now grants to the Dominions. If any tariff rate is reduced, the present margin of preference, roughly one-third of the duty, will be retained.

South Africa has given a similar undertaking. No specific undertaking has been given by the other Dominions, but the general idea, it is understood, is that offers to maintain preference should be voluntary rather than in the nature of a quid pro quo.

BENNETT STATES VIEWS

The resolutions winding up the conference were moved by Premier R. B. Bennett of Canada, who reaffirmed very strongly the position he had taken at the opening of the Imperial Conference, when he declared his belief that reciprocal tariff preferences were the surest means of increasing Empire trade.

Premier Bennett expressed his confidence that at the Ottawa meeting every unit of the Empire would subscribe to the doctrine of closer economic co-operation. Protection, in his opinion, had produced Canada's prosperity and had maintained the Dominion's present position, and protection was, and always had been, the policy of the party he represented in Canada, he said.

MARKET DEVELOPMENT

His resolutions, which were adopted, were as follows:

1. "That this Imperial Conference records its belief that the further development of the inter-Imperial market is of the utmost importance to the various parts of the Commonwealth."

2. "That inasmuch as the conference has not been able within the time limit of these deliberations to examine fully the various means whereby inter-Imperial trade may best be maintained and extended, it is resolved that the economic section of the conference be adjourned to meet in Ottawa on a date

JAIL TERMS AND LASHES ORDERED

Fifteen Sentenced in Vancouver at End of Fall Assizes

Vancouver, Nov. 14. — Declaring blackmail was one of the most serious offences which could be committed, Chief Justice Morrison here this morning sentenced George Kenneth Richardson, thirty-eight, and Richard Calvin Merrill, twenty-six, found guilty by a jury of attempting to blackmail a North Vancouver man, to five years.

"If the statute permitted lashes I would be inclined to give them in this case," the Chief Justice said.

The heaviest sentence pronounced at the close of the fall assizes was five years, ten lashes and a fine of $500 imposed on Charles Marino, thirty-seven, a native of Italy, and Frank Charlie Yipp, forty-four, a native of Yale, who were convicted of distributing narcotic drugs.

FOR BANK ROBBERY

Lashes will be also inflicted on the men who held up the Canadian Bank of Commerce at the corner of Oak Street and Fifteenth Avenue last year. The trio, James Wallace McKenzie, Charles Keating and William Siegmund, were sentenced to five years and ten lashes each, while Harry A. Erickson, the fourth man convicted, was sentenced only to the penitentiary term. It was explained he had not carried a gun.

William Siegmund, also convicted of attempting to hold up the Royal Bank of Canada on Broadway, was sentenced to five years and ten lashes on the second count, but the sentences will run concurrently. Only ten lashes will be administered.

Other sentences were:

George Mackey, forty-seven, causing actual bodily harm, suspended.

WARMER DAYS FORECAST FOR VICTORIA NOW

Warm Southerly Winds Expected to Send Mercury Up in City Shortly

Prairies, Interior Under Cold Snap; Unsettled Conditions Expected Here

Fair and milder weather was forecast for Victoria this morning by F. Napier Denison after studying the weather map of the province. Although ice was still in evidence at an early hour, the thermometers at the two stations, at the top of Gonzales Hill and on Fairfield Road, showed a rise of one degree from yesterday's low.

While the general prediction was for milder weather, unsettled conditions were anticipated by Mr. Denison after the cold snap had ended.

In accordance with his prediction, Mr. Denison pointed out that the prairies had suffered below zero temperatures yesterday. Prince George had shivered when the mercury dropped to six below, he noted, while in Calgary it went down to zero, with Edmonton six to ten degrees lower.

In Cranbrook fourteen inches of snow fell.

WILLIAM WHITE IS CANDIDATE

Will Stand For Council Seat This Year; Policy Outlined

William White, former police commissioner, to-day announced he would seek election to the City Council at the polls in December.

Mr. White is the eighth candidate in the field for aldermanic honors.

Discussing his candidature, Mr. White said he believed in a progressive policy for the city, guided by sound business methods to keep pace with natural developments. He favored a Victoria beautification scheme with the development of the Dallas waterfront.

As far as present civic problems were concerned, Mr. White said he would seek amendment of the zoning by-law to place it on a more equitable basis. Unemployment work, he thought, should be for the permanent benefit of the community.

PLANS FOR BRITAIN-U.S. PLANE SERVICE ARE MADE

Washington, Nov. 14.—Plans for a British-United States air mail line across the Atlantic to-day were said by W. Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster-General, to be settled.

New York, Nov. 14.—Plans for a transatlantic air mail service between Great Britain and the United States via Bermuda and the Azores were described in several New York newspapers to-day.

Pan-American Airways Inc., which operates through the West Indies, Mexican Central America and South America, will conduct the leg from the Atlantic coast of the United States to Bermuda, according to the papers, and the Imperial Airways Limited, which runs through Europe, India and Africa, will continue the service from Bermuda to England.

The line, is is stated, will be inaugurated in 1931 with mail, but eventually express and passenger service will be added. The United States company will use single-motored, speed planes, while the British concern has designed a giant four-engined flying boat especially for the project.

Major G. Woods-Humphrey, managing director of the Imperial Airways, will arrive here Sunday aboard the liner Franconia, and is expected to complete arrangements for the line with Juan T. Trippe, president of the Pan-American Airways.

NO NEW WORK ON SINGAPORE NAVAL BASE

Imperial Conference Decides on Five-year Halt in Construction

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 14.—The Royal Air Force works in connection with the great naval base scheme at Singapore will be completed, and existing work on the great new Singapore dockyard will be continued, but the new work on the naval parts of the base will be postponed for five years.

This was the decision approved by the Imperial Conference before its adjournment here to-day.

The work being continued is known as the Jackson contract, which calls for expenditure of roughly $38,000,000 on the new dockyard, which may be used by merchant vessels. The great floating dock built in England and towed out to Singapore has been in use for some time.

CONTRIBUTIONS MADE

The Malay States have contributed $10,000,000 toward the cost of the base, New Zealand $5,000,000 and Hongkong $1,250,000, much of which has already been disbursed.

UNEMPLOYED IN VANCOUVER MAKE DEMANDS

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—A special appropriation by the City Council for the immediate relief of unemployed men and women, irrespective of creed or color, pending action by the Provincial and Federal Governments, was requested by a delegation from the Unemployed Workers' Association at a meeting of the civic finance committee yesterday afternoon. Claiming all schemes so far instituted by the Federal, provincial and municipal governments were makeshifts and did not cure the unemployment situation, the delegation demanded work or full maintenance at trade union rates for all unemployed men and women.

Other demands included:

Immunity from eviction for arrears of rent or for debts contracted through unemployment.

That no foreign-born worker be deported for being a public charge through unemployment.

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—Prairie areas from Alberta to the Manitoba border to-day felt the touch of winter. Ranging in depth from four to seven inches, a white blanket to-day covered the fields of southern and central Alberta after a two-day storm, and the mercury had dipped to sub-zero marks. Calgary citizens, with four inches of snow on the ground, shivered in a nine-below-zero temperature, while Edmonton reported the coldest day of the season with the mercury hovering around the zero mark. The heaviest snowfall was recorded in the southern districts of Alberta, the Lethbridge area being covered by a seven-inch blanket after the two-day storm.

3. "That the agenda for the meeting referred to in the previous resolution will be agreed on between the several governments."

WHEAT TRADE

Premier Bennett remarked that in his opinion the report of the Graham committee on wheat quota purchasing was of great value. A quota allotment of Britain's wheat purchases would be of considerable help to the Dominion wheat growers, he said. He was ready to consider it as an alternative to tariff preference.

He closed his address with a warm invitation to the delegates to visit Ottawa next year.

SCULLIN SPEAKS

Premier James Scullin of Australia said he felt the conference had not had time to get a proper grip on its subject. He, too, thought a quota on wheat might be of great value to the wheat-growing Dominions.

Premier G. H. Forbes of New Zealand observed that while New Zealand's belief in tariff preferences was not shared by the government of the United Kingdom, New Zealand had no quarrel about it. His country recognized each government in the commonwealth had to look after its own people's interests first, and those of other peoples of the commonwealth second.

NOT DISAPPOINTED

Premier J. B. Hertzog of South Africa said he would not be honest if he did not say the conference, on the economic side, had not borne the fruit he had hoped for—and he emphasized the word hoped. He did not mean South Africa was disappointed. Before coming to London the South African delegation had realized the United Kingdom had particular views on the tariff question and these views had been reached after consideration of what the British Government believed to be in the best interests of its own country.

RESULTS AWAITED

Hon. Patrick McGilligan, Irish Free State Minister of External Affairs, said the full effect of the conference would not be seen for some time. Many things might happen before the conference reassembled at Ottawa and, he jokingly added, if for any reason the Irish Free State could not go to Ottawa, it would watch the climax there.

INDIA'S POSITION

Sir Muhammad Shafi, Indian delegate, expressed the hope India would have the status of a dominion within a few years. He pointed out that just as the League of Nations had become so pressing that annual sessions at Geneva were necessary, so the British Imperial Conferences must occur more frequently.

ADDRESS TO KING

Premier Ramsay MacDonald closed the discussions with words of general appreciation. He moved, and Premier Bennett seconded, an address to the King and with the adoption of a resolution observing that "the conference met at a time of great stress and difficulty. But its members trust that the work accomplished during the past few weeks may prove of lasting value to all the nations of the British commonwealth," the conference came to an end.

WHEAT DISCUSSION

Yesterday evening, with the end of the Imperial Conference to-day in sight, further details of the report submitted to the Premiers by the economic committee headed by Rt. Hon. William Graham, president of the British Board of Trade, were learned. A quota of fifty-five per cent. was suggested as the amount of wheat Britain should take from the overseas Empire. It was suggested the quota for the Dominions might be worked out by a system of certificates.

There would be no interference with British international treaty obligations if, together with a quota for the Dominions, there was also a quota fixed for the amount of home-grown wheat to be consumed.

A great advantage of import boards, it was said, would be in the prevention of dumping.

All these schemes, it was known, were matters for long consideration and would have to wait for settlement until another conference. Mr. MacDonald had stated it would not tax food entering Britain in order to create a structure for a preference scheme.

CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES

While the 1930 conference was unable to proceed either with sentiment preferences or the suggested alternatives as a means of stimulating Empire trade, it reached important decisions in the constitutional realm. Last year's report of the commission which studied the operation of Dominion laws was approved by the Sankey committee and the heads of delegations with the provision the Canadian provinces should be consulted to see whether their rights under the British North America Act are, in any way, susceptible to being prejudiced by the passing of the necessary legislation by the British Parliament.

Thus the Colonial Laws Validity Act of 1865 is to be repealed.

Other results of the Conference are: Privy Council appeals shall remain in force in the Dominions.

Creation of a non-permanent voluntary arbitration court to judge disputes between Empire governments.

SHIPPING LAWS

Each Dominion is to have full legislative power over its own shipping.

Any alteration to the law touching the succession to the throne may only be made through the consent of all seven Parliaments of the Commonwealth.

It is also recognized the appointment of a governor-general is a matter lying between the King and the goverment of the Dominion concerned.

MURDERS ARE TRACED WHEN GRAVES FOUND

Bodies of Two Men Discovered Near Trembleur Lake, Northern B.C.

Men Were Members of Party of Three Which Left Prince George Last June

Canadian Press

Prince George, B.C., Nov. 14.—A double murder is believed to have been revealed by the finding of the cleverly camouflaged graves of two men whose disappearance since they left here last June with a third man had been a mystery. The three men were known as Karl Fredericks, Peters and Marks.

Shortly after their departure for the Takla Lake district, to the northwest, one of them returned and left for the east. Four weeks later the matter was brought to the attention of the provincial police and investigations have proceeded since. The bodies of the two men were finally located at the east end of Trembleur Lake, north of Fort St. James, about half-way to the original destination of the men.

The men were traced by their campsites and Trembleur Lake was dragged without result. Recently, however, a trapper named Prince, who had assisted the police, found a camp site which had been missed on the first search, and police found the grave there, near the lake shore.

The bodies are being brought out to Fort St. James, where an inquest will be held.

LONDON DOCK EXPERT HERE

Since the rationalization and reconstruction of the Port of London the authority considers it has achieved something from which Empire harbor and dock authorities can learn, to their advantage.

A. E. Wildey, public relations officer of the Port of London Authority, has arrived at the Empress Hotel and will confer with business men in this city, New Westminster and Vancouver.

"The Port of London Authority is a body somewhat similar to your harbor commissions, but with wider duties," he said to-day. "In the Old Country it is often held up as a pattern, and public men have gone so far as to urge the formation of bodies similarly constituted to handle such public utilities, as telephones and electricity, so successful is the authority."

APPEAL MADE FOR FEDERAL RELIEF AID

the prairies. In all parts of this province the situation is aggravated by the influx from other parts of Canada. On our recommendation the government sent an urgent appeal to Ottawa, stronger than the earlier applications we have already filed, showing the special position of British Columbia as a result of its climatic attractions," Mr. McKenzie said this morning.

HUGE SUM SOUGHT

Mr. McKenzie refused to state the amount which the government had requested for British Columbia from the $4,000,000 direct relief fund.

"Publication of the news that a huge additional sum is being sought by the government for direct relief will almost certainly defeat the object of the application, by causing an additional influx from other provinces into the coastal cities," Mr. McKenzie pointed out.

"The Vancouver City Council seems to think that this government does not appreciate the situation Vancouver has to meet as the focal point of the unemployed of all the prairies, but in fact we are alive to the problem and very sympathetic. We therefore hastened to make application to Ottawa for a grant towards meeting the special condition existing in Vancouver and many other communities," said the minister.

MONEY PROVIDED

The government yesterday authorized two special warrants providing $850,000 for relief contributions to municipalities. One warrant authorized $400,000 to bring provincial appropriations to $900,000, a previous warrant having provided $500,000. The second vote of $450,000 will be an advance against the federal contribution, and will be repaid later by the Dominion Government.

THOMAS SAYS GREAT BRITAIN IS DOMINION

London, Nov. 14.—"The Dominion of Great Britain," that was the new status assigned England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland in the British Commonwealth of Nations to-day by Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions in the MacDonald Government.

"We are a dominion now and I wish to emphasize that status," said Mr. Thomas half seriously and half humorously while summarizing and interpreting for newspapermen the results of the Imperial Conference.

BUDGET PLAN LIMITS WAR MATERIALS

Canadian Press

Geneva, Nov. 14.—The Preparatory Disarmament Commission to-day accepted the principle of limitation of land war materials by the budgetary method. The United States alone declined to accept the principle.

The principle was embodied in a resolution presented by Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, British delegate.

Sixteen nations supported the resolution, including Canada, France and Japan. Three nations opposed it—Russia, Germany and Italy. The United States, Sweden, Turkey, Venezuela, Bulgaria and China abstained from voting.

SOVIET RESOLUTION DEFEATED

The vote was taken a few minutes after the commission had rejected the Russian declaration that simultaneous application of both the direct and budgetary methods would be the only effective means of limiting land war materials.

The vote on the Russian resolution was 5 votes for to 22 against. Its supporters were Russia, Italy, Germany, Turkey and Holland. The United States voted against it.

HON. A. TURGEON, ONE OF QUEBEC LEADERS, DIES

Succumbs in Ancient Capital After Long Career in Provincial Houses and Cabinet

Quebec, Nov. 14.—Hon. Adelard Turgeon, Speaker of the Legislative Council, the second chamber of the Legislature of Quebec, died this morning at 5.25 o'clock.

Hon. Adelard Turgeon, C.M.G., C.V.O., a native of Quebec Province, a son of Damase Turgeon, farmer and merchant, and Christine Turgeon, his wife. After studying law at Laval University, he was in 1887 called to the bar and practiced successfully until elected to the Quebec Legislative Assembly as a Liberal in the general election of 1890. He was re-elected in 1892 and 1897 and was appointed Minister of Colonization and Mines in the Marchand Government, and later was Provincial Secretary and Minister of Agriculture in the Parent Administration. In the Gouin Cabinet Mr. Turgeon was Minister of Lands and Forests and during the visit of the Premier to Europe in 1907 he was Acting Premier and Attorney-General.

DEFEATED BOURASSA

In October, 1907, following opposition criticism, he resigned his seat. After a very active campaign he was re-elected by a large majority over the redoubtable Henri Bourassa, Independent, who had resigned his seat in the House of Commons to do battle.

Mr. Turgeon retained his seat and portfolio till his resignation in January, 1909, when he was appointed to the Legislative Council. From 1909 till his death he was president (speaker) of the second chamber.

REVOLUTION CRIES MARK MADRID RIOTS

Three Men Killed and Over Sixty Injured When Cavalry Charges Mobs

Canadian Press

Madrid, Nov. 14.—Three men were killed, a dozen seriously wounded and fifty others injured in a series of labor riots which threw this city into a turmoil for half an hour to-day.

The trouble followed a demonstration of thousands of workers in connection with the funeral of four workmen crushed to death Wednesday in the collapse of a building.

STRIKE CALLED

The construction workers proclaimed a general strike as a protest against the municipality, architects and contractors permitting the erection of structures endangering workers' lives. Other workers began abandoning their jobs in sympathy and the city soon swarmed with strikers. Some began waving red flags and the strikers attacked some workers who had refused to quit their jobs.

Reserves of police, civil guards and calvary were rushed to the scene to break up the demonstration and cavalry charges followed.

The cavalrymen made free use of their sabres.

NUMBER ARRESTED

There was some property damage and many arrests were made.

The demonstration was marked by shouts of "viva revolution!"

Ontario Premier Leaves For Canada

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 14.—Premier G. H. Ferguson of Ontario left London to-day to return to Canada, sailing later aboard the liner Empress of Australia from Southampton.

Also sailing aboard the Empress of Australia were Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Canadian Minister of Justice, who was a delegate to the Imperial Conference, and Hon. C. H. Cahan, Canadian Secretary of State, who had been in England and Europe for some weeks.

Various advisers and Canadian statistical experts also started back for Canada to-day.

HAMAGUCHI RECOVERING AFTER SHOT

wounded at 8.55 a.m. to-day by a young man identified as a member of a reactionary patriotic organization.

Premier Hamaguchi fell before the would-be assassin's pistol as he walked across the train platform of the Tokio central station preparatory to taking a train to Okayama to attend the annual army manoeuvres.

The assailant, Tomeo Sagoya, twenty-three, wearing western style clothing, stepped out of the crowd lining the platform and fired a single shot from a distance of six feet. Without a sound the Premier clapped his hand to the wound and fell to the platform.

Police pounced on Sagoya and he was immediately subjected to a grilling. Officers remained silent as to the outcome of the questioning. Sagoya was said to be a member of the Aikokushan, or "Love of Country Association."

Premier Hamaguchi was carried to the stationmaster's office, while his wife and members of the cabinet were summoned to the scene. The Premier remained there more than three hours, during which time he was given a blood transfusion. His second son, Iwane, furnished the blood.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

The Premier finally was taken to the Imperial University Hospital, where he was given two more blood transfusions and subjected to an operation in which a part of the small intestine, pierced by the assailant's bullet, was removed.

The bullet had struck the Premier in the right side of the abdomen and lodged in the left hip. Because of his weakness, physicians postponed removal of the bullet.

Late to-day Premier Hamaguchi's condition was described as "satisfactory" and his chances for recovery were said to be good. He retained consciousness throughout the morning, even on the operating table.

Several members of the cabinet remained at the hospital until the operation had been completed. Jun Nosuke Inouye, Minister of Finance, and Yuko Esi, Minister of Railways, were present while the operation was performed.

Promise of warmer weather was seen by Mr. Denison in the movement of the cold snap over Alaska to the prairies. This would cause southerly winds over the south of the province and would tend to make climatic condition warmer, but unsettled, he said.

This morning, the thermometers at the higher station showed the temperature to have reached low marks of thirty-two degrees above in the screen and twenty-seven on the grass at the top of the hill. The lower station marks were twenty-seven in the screen and twenty-one on the grass, a one-degree rise from yesterday.

LOS ANGELES POLICE WARRING ON GANGSTERS

Say They Will Not Tolerate Invasion of Their City

Los Angeles, Nov. 14.—As a result of underworld tips of kidnapping plots and newspaper reports of the presence of "Scarface" Al Capone, Chicago gang leader, in southern California, heads of three law enforcement agencies here are planning action against "an invasion of gangsters."

The danger of the situation was outlined by District Attorney Buron Fitts, who said "it is time to take concerted action against these criminals."

Fitts said that within the last sixty days he had obtained "astonishing information" from underworld sources.

A report of Capone's arrival here sent detectives in a vain search for the gangster yesterday. On several other occasions he had been reported here, but no trace of him was found. Two years ago he made a thirty-minute visit to Los Angeles, fifteen minutes of which were spent in going to a hotel and fifteen minutes more in getting back on a train in custody of police, eastward bound.

WILL BE SCATTERED

Authorities to-day indicated their campaign to prevent gangsters from gaining a foothold here would be one of scattering the criminals as quickly as they learned of their presence.

Determination on drastic action came upon the heels of a plot to kidnap Harry Chandler, owner of The Los Angeles Times. The veteran publisher showed little perturbation over the information, but Fitts assigned two detectives to guard him against any attempt to carry out the threat.

BENNETT'S TOUR

London, Nov. 14.—Premier R. B. Bennett plans to visit Dublin on Sunday, and later visit Belfast, Edinburgh and Paris, leaving for Canada within two weeks.

TORONTO WOMAN IS FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Toronto, Nov. 14.—After five hours' consideration, a jury in fall assizes here yesterday evening brought in a verdict of manslaughter against Mrs. Helena Bednarski. She had been charged with having murdered Albert Mallett in June last. She was remanded for sentence to-day.

When the verdict became known, Mr. Justice Jeffrey expressed entire agreement with the judgment of the jury. "So far as your verdict is concerned, I am heartily in accord with you and on the evidence before you I think it very wise," he said.

The defence had been self-defence.

The body of Albert Mallett was found lying across the doorway of a bedroom of the Bednarski home, a blood-stained axe lying nearby. Mrs. Bednardski said she had been attacked by Mallett during the night, and after a struggle, had freed herself from his grasp, seized the axe and struck him down.

CAPONE'S NAME MENTIONED IN GRAPE DEBATE

Fresno, Cal., Nov. 14.—The Fresno Bee yesterday said orders had gone out form the headquarters of Al (Scareface) Capone, Chicago gangland chief, that grape concentrate, a product of the Fruit Industries Limited of California, must not be sold in Chicago and death would be the price of disobedience.

It was understood, The Bee said, the gangland orders had been handed down to those in a position to act as selling agents of the product—a concentrated grape juice capable of fermentation.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Chicago branch officials of Fruit Industries Limited of California said they had received no threats from Al Capone, and said their only knowledge of the gangster was gleaned from newspaper columns. They had heard nothing of a report from Fresno that Capone had warned against introduction of their product into Chicago.

L. H Fisher, local manager, said the company's product had been on the market ten years

GORDON SPEAKS IN WINNIGEG

Minister of Immigration Is Traveling West to Victoria and Vancouver

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—Canada does not hope to open up new fields for colonization, Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration, Colonization and Mines, told members of the Manitoba Conservative Association at a banquet in his honor here yesterday evening. Tracts of land, already partially populated, were sufficient for what settlement there would be for some years to come, he said.

"I subscribe heartily to the views of those who tell of the magnitude of our resources," Mr. Gordon said, "but there is no great hurry in exploiting them. At the present time we have within our borders all the people we can absorb into our business life."

Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan, attended the banquet.

Mr. Gordon will remain here until Saturday, and then will travel west to the British Columbia coast. He will attend a convention of the Provincial Branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy in Vancouver.

INDIA PLAN OF VICEROY IS SCORED

DESCRIBED AS FANTASTIC

The London Telegraph says: "The proposal cuts at the heart of the Simon Commission's plan. Over a wide tract of administration it would erect a viceroy in principle into an autocrat, subject only to removal by the Crown. That Lord Irwin should have secured the consent of his council to a scheme so fantastic is the most incomprehensible thing about it."

"ANARCHY AND BANKRUPTCY"

The London Daily Mail charges the government with loading the dice in favor of Dominion status and declares the dispatch negatives most of the Simon Commission's work. It would appease Indian extremists "by concessions which would reduce India to anarchy and bankruptcy." The paper scorns Premier Ramsay Macdonald for "allowing the government to intervene and attempt to prejudice the deliberations of the delegates."

The London News-Chronicle points out the dispatch suggested the Simon scheme was not workable.

LONDON POST'S VIEW

The London Morning Post's main fear is that if the government is made partly responsible to the Indian Legislative Assembly, it would come more under the Assembly's power and that the army would be dragged in with the government. "If the army should come under political influence," the paper says, "nothing would be left but to await the inevitable disaster."

Recalling that the Indian princes are guaranteed the protection of the British army, the paper expersed docbt they would accept the "dubious protection of an Indianized and politically dominated army," adding that "without their consent no scheme would be worth the paper on which it was inscribed."

NEXT SESSION MONDAY

In the meantime, while the newspapers are discussing the Irwin recommendations, the delegates to the Round-Table Conference are marking time till next Monday, when the conference sessions are to be resumed.

At the outset the Viceroy's dispatch admits a large degree of national consciousness among the educated classes of India, and says it would be a great mistake to underestimate the force, or depreciate the value of this sentiment.

The civil disobedience movement exhibits both the strength and the manifest limitations of the Nationalist forces, says the India government's statement.

FIELD FOR EXPANSION

The India government agrees with the Simon Commission that the aim of the reformers must be to establish a constitution containing due provisions for its own development and expansion.

Meanwhile, the main problem is declared by the government to be the means by which British India may be developed in a manner not only consistent with the wider vision but appropriate to its own immediate requirements.

"The conditions suggest to us the importance of defining, as clearly as possible, the purposes which Britain must continue to safeguard in India and the importance of making plain that where those purposes are not concerned, India should be free to manage her own affairs," says the report.

IS PROVED IN COURT GANGSTER IS MILLIONAIRE

Chicago, Nov. 14. — A procession of bankers moved through a federal courtroom here yesterday adding up for the government the little deposit slips that recorded the wealth of John Guzik, Capone gang manager.

They had written a total of $853,338 at noon, and added bit by bit to the evidence through the afternoon until deposits of nearly a million dollars had been shown to the credit of Guzik in a three-year period. The government had promised to show the jury the gangster was in the millionaire class, despite his protestations that income tax schedules totaling $60,240 for 1927, 1928 and 1929 represented his true earnings.

Gambling houses run by Guzik, and profits of the Hawthorne and Laramie Kennel Clubs—now closed by injunction—were the source of most of the indicated wealth, the prosecution contended.

Although the trial may bring to light some of the operations of the underworld syndicates, the jury was warned by Judge Charles E. Woodward that Guzik was on trial only for alleged evasion of the federal income tax law, and no extraneous matter might be considered in determining the issue.

Most of the deposit slips identified by tellers and officers of the bank showed credit to Guzik's account in the Equitable Trust Company.

Defence attorneys sought to break down the testimony of the bankers, but Ansley Jacobs, a receiving teller, was positive of his identification of 110 deposit slips brought to his window by Guzik or his messengers.

A VALUABLE REPORT

IT WAS HARDLY TO BE SUPPOSED that a legislative measure of such far-reaching nature as British Columbia's Produce Marketing Act would be instantly successful. It was framed to ameliorate a condition which for long had been recognized as a serious problem for the growers of tree fruits and vegetables. Consequently some of the proposed remedies embodied in the Act necessarily were of an experimental character the value of which could be determined only by a fair test. On the whole, however, the situation has been considerably improved under its operation, while a report which Mr. F. M. Black, chairman of the Interior Committee of Direction, has just submitted to the government obviously is a useful and an informative document. Mr. Black bases his comments and a number of important recommendations for the improvement of the Act upon experience he has gained in helping to market four crops of fruit and vegetables.

While the constitutionality of the Act now is under consideration by the Supreme Court of Canada, and the possibility remains that some of its essential features eventually may have to be modified, Mr. Black considers the time ripe to review the legislation from the point of view of its operation, whatever may be the Supreme Court's decision, on the assumption that it is possible to develop some other method—of which the existing legislation is merely the forerunner—under which the grower can control more fully the marketing of his own products. With that in mind, therefore, Mr. Black says explicitly that his report, and the recommendations which it contains, is written from the standpoint of the welfare of the grower alone. If he is prosperous, others obviously share in his prosperity. The document in question is a comprehensive one; but the chief change recommended is the creation of a Board of Trustees to replace the costly marketing organizations at present operating. Mr. Black condenses his observations as follows:

(a) The economic circumstances of the grower are not easy under the best of conditions. Without some such assistance as rendered by the Produce Marketing Act during the last four seasons, they would have become impossible, but the effect of that Act is not sufficiently direct.

(b) The grower depends upon an intermediary agency to pack and market his product. To it he entrusts complete control of his property. It may be co-operative or independent in its character. In either case it undertakes "to market his products to the best of its ability and to make returns as promptly as possible."

(c) Out of these returns the grower must first pay the cost of packing, and over and above these the charges made for marketing, which aggregate a startlingly large sum per annum.

(d) By creating a Board of Trustees to do his marketing, under legislation by the province, the grower can effect savings of approximately $400,000 per annum, a sum equal to more than twice the amount of relief he would obtain if all the annual charges on irrigation systems were assumed by the government, or a possible saving per package of somewhere about nine cents.

(e) The indirect savings and gain through the mastery of the marketing of his product would be substantial, although not capable of immediate tabulation.

(f) If the proposal be earnestly discussed, the balloting which would be necessary could be held in time to make the new organization effective for the crop year of 1931.

In support of his recommendations for reorganization upon the basis of experience gained, Mr. Black points out that the fruit growers of the province, by adopting his proposals, would be merely following the example of many great industries on this continent, which, of course, have been highly successful. So he concludes: "It now remains for the growers to capitalize in an advanced form the experiences derived from its operations, if they see fit to do so."

The point in Mr. Black's observation in paragraph "d" that will attract especial attention is the saving he considers the growers would effect by adopting a marketing system under a Board of Trustees. Nearly two years ago the provincial Minister of Agriculture alluded to the fact that a fruit crop in the Okanagan Valley worth approximately $7,000,000 would have to meet a bill for taking it to market of $2,000,000 for freight alone. It thus will be recognized, even though railway charges may not be reduced, the prospect of a twenty per cent cut in overhead in another direction should be an important factor in determining acceptance of Mr. Black's recommendation. The important psychological aspect of the question—and it should not be overlooked—is that which would give the grower a more intimate control over the disposal of the products of his labor.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

IF THE CAUSE OF EMPIRE TRADE HAS not received the impetus it was hoped the Imperial Conference would give it, nothing has transpired in London to be alarmed about, or to suggest to those who find pleasure in looking for trouble that an agreement to disagree for the time being will be attended by serious consequences.

Nor does it appear quite fair to put the blame for failure to reach specific understandings on fiscal matters upon the MacDonald government, to say that its policies do not reflect the views of anything like a majority of the people of Great Britain, or to suggest that a Conservative government, for instance, would have accepted without a murmur all the proposals advanced by the Dominion representatives. This is not an accurate presentation of the case.

With a mandate from the Canadian people to put this country's cards on the table and demand preference for preference, Mr. Bennett submitted proposals which all could understand. The wisdom of those proposals, the doubt about the efficacy of their operation if adopted, is beside the question. After the ballots had been counted last July, Canada knew exactly what the new Prime Minister would say to the Conference. He followed his programme to the letter. But—and this was the first real snag the gathering struck—as soon as he asked Britain to tax foreign wheat to give Canadian wheat a preference in the British market, as the price of no further increase in the duty on British goods entering Canada, the fat was in the fire. Good imperial manners prevented instant rejection of such an offer; yet nobody ever expected Britain to pay the price. First Mr. Snowden dropped more than a hint at Manchester that he would not remain in a government which consented to tax food. Then Mr. MacDonald declared in the House of Commons that "we cannot do it," following it up with a similar declaration to the Conference the other day. Neither Mr. Baldwin nor Mr. Lloyd George could have given any other answer to the Dominions' preference proposals.

However, it has been agreed that the economic section of the Conference shall resume its discussions in Ottawa next year. Meanwhile, "as autonomous communities within the British Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by a common allegiance to the Crown, and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations," the Dominions still will continue to demonstrate to the world at large that the ties which bind them together are not to be weakened by a family meeting at which all do not see eye to eye with one another. Plain talk, supported by honest conviction, seldom does harm.

TURNING THE CORNER

SEVERAL OF OUR LEADING ECONOMists have told us recently that the worst of the world-wide depression as far as it affects Canada is now a matter of history and that within a month or so a definite improvement will be manifested. This optimistic outlook for the most part is based upon the expectation that the aggressive measures now being employed to reduce unemployment in the United States will be successful and send business on the upgrade, which, of course, would produce a favorable reaction on this side of the border.

It is worth noting, however, that numerous signs remind us of the soundness of Canada's fundamental condition. For example, the decline of savings deposits in this country's banks at the end of August—the latest month for which official figures are available—was less than was expected in view of the stock market crash of a year ago. In October, 1929, when deposits were at their peak, the aggregate was $1,470,045,528, compared with $1,404,118,280 for August of this year, or a decline of approximately $66,000,000. It is expected, moreover, that the total for September will show an improvement over the preceding month.

A billion and a half of savings deposits is a respectable sum for our ten millions of people to have available in ready cash. It is striking proof of their thrift and gives them a sense of security in times of economic difficulty.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FRENCH TALKIES
The Sherbrooke Tribune

The French talking film is coming more and more into favor in the Province of Quebec . . . . For long dependent on the United States for its supply of films, France is now accomplishing prodigies in the cinematograph industry, so much so that the day is approaching when it will no longer have to submit to the vagaries of the American film producers. French films should be able to find an advantageous market in this province. Four-fifths at least of the population of Quebec are of French origin, and speak and understand French. As a result they are entitled to expect that from time to time they will get something else at least beside hundred per cent. silent or talking American or English films.

MORE EFFECTIVE THAN BOMBS
Ivanhoe in "The Winnipeg Tribune

The German publishers of "All Quiet on the Western Front" have issued some astonishing figures relating to the book's sales during the last fifteen months. More than a million copies have been sold in Germany alone, which is claimed as the world's record. The sales of translations up to date are as follows: France, 400,000; U.S.A., 325,000; England, 310,000; Czechoslovakia, 81,000; Spain, 75,000; Norway and Denmark, 70,000; Holland, 70,000; Sweden, 67,000; Japan, 50,000, Letland, 23,000; Finland, 22,000; Hungary, 21,000; Poland, 20,000; Yiddish edition, 6,700; Bulgaria, 5,500; Roumania, 6,000; Greece, 3,000; Esperanto edition, 2,400; Russia, 2,000—a total of over 2,750,000. In addition to this remarkable list there have been sales in various dialects which have not yet been computed. Italy, it is interesting to add, is the only country in which the book has been prohibited.

To make its organization as large as possible, thereby enlarging its influence, is the aim of the Victoria Municipal Association, discussed at a meeting held last evening.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Easterly winds, unsettled and mild, with rain and fog.

Probably the most interesting subject mentioned under the heading of business at the meeting of the City Council last evening was referring to the Victoria and Sidney Railway, in so far as it affects the city. At the conclusion of the regular routine Alderman Hanna said that the residents of the north side of Fisguard Street had been complaining about the cinders from the company's locomotives. He thought that the company should take some action in the matter.

Loose Ends

Chicago finds it hasn't got so far—even with Mr. Chandler's refined version—and besides, there is the matter of the horse and buggy.

By H. B.W.

AS I HAVE often regretted before, whenever we seem to be making some definite progress in the world we suddenly find that we are back just where we were before. Thus I discover to my great discouragement that the Field Museum, of Chicago, has just acquired a pair of Egyptian dice, made in Cleopatra's day, exactly like those used in the intellectual pastime of craps which modern civilization had always cherished as one of its own special products. Nay, the Egyptian craps 2,000 years old were loaded to turn up most frequently on the numbers two and five, which evidently corresponded to our seven and eleven. Chicago thus can claim no advancement in this realm of culture over Egypt of the Ptolemies. But a still more startling parallel has been discovered in Egypt. There an ancient wall carving shows a gangster hitting a gentleman over the head with a club and taking all his money. After that, what has Chicago left to offer as its contribution to the world's progress?

BUT STAY. A Mr. Frank Chandler, of Chicago, has answered the question by publishing on his ninetieth birthday a "refined" version of the Bible. This is enterprising of Mr. Chandler and reflects a gentle nature, a nature which apparently is not built of stuff stern enough to stomach the King James' version. Critics are talking about the refined version of Mr. Chandler's as if it were a new idea but investigators have been finding that this great project was anticipated in the middle of the eighteenth century. At that time the Rev. Edward Harwood, a British clergyman, published a refined version because, in his own words, he wished "to diffuse over the sacred page the elegance of modern English."

TO ATTAIN this laudable result he refered to Nicodemus as "this gentleman" and made the daughter of Jairus recover at the command, "Young lady, arise." Peter, too, was made to remark with a charming politeness, "Oh, sire, what a delectable residence we might fix here!". But Mr. Harwood excelled himself and, I hope, exceeded anything which Mr. Chandler may achieve, when he came to the story of the Prodigal Son in these chaste words: "A gentleman of splendid family and opulent fortune had two sons. One day the younger approached his father and begged him in the most importunate and soothing terms to make a partition of his effects betwixt himself and his elder brother. The undulgent father, overcome by his blandishments, immediately divided his fortune betwixt them." And so on. Chicago, I feel, will hardly beat that.

I HAVE just been reading a little historical article in The Christian Science Monitor which almost brings tears of remembrance to my eyes. It was evidently written by some fellow who had been looking at an automobile show and it contrasted the present era of snappy roadsters to those other days of the gay nineties when a young man's ambition was to own a smart rubber-tired buggy with red wheels, and a clean stepping little bay mare in a light harness with tan reins and nickel trimmings. Accessories, this writer recalled, consisted of a hitching rope or weight, a slender whalebone and rattan whip to be held at a jaunty angle athwart one's collar bone, a pail, hose, sponge and chamois skin for washing, a jack for lifting the wheels to be greased a fuzzy mat for a resting place for tiny feet, a linen duster to put over one's lap in the summer and a heavy laprobe for colder weather. Also a currycomb and brush.

IF ALL THAT fails to make you sigh over the sad, sweet days that are no more, the figures of cost are bound to do. The horse, I learn, would cost $125 and the buggy the same amount. A good harness came to something like $25 so that the total investment amounted to approximately $300. Nor did the rig depreciate fifty per cent the first time you drove it up the street. On the contrary, it was often possible to sell the horse within two or three years at a profit. The upkeep also was low for it consisted mainly of oats, hay, a little bran for feed, straw for bedding, shoeing about once every two months, grease for the axels and a box of harness soap. The daily overhead expense of such a turnout, if you stabled and cared for the horse yourself, was not much more than the amount it costs to-day to put a car in a garage while you go shopping. But you had to be well off to afford these luxuries. You had to earn as much as $25 a week.

IF YOU ARE young and belong to this era, you will not understand the point of all this and will wonder why I have set down these facts which are very dull. If you belong to this era you cannot help it, I suppose. But if you are old and remember another era, then you will understand. And if you ever owned a horsee, and a buggy and some axel grease and harness soap, you will know, as I do, that automobile has taken something out of human life which it has not replaced. The automobile, it is true, has enabled us to race through the country so fast that we cannot see the scenery. It has saved us time so we may waste it otherwise. It has helped us to pollute the atmosphere with gasoline, to drive the pedestrian from the road, and fill the air with the sound of angry tooting. But with all these advantages, somehow you cannot find at the wheel of a car at sixty miles an hour that exquisite thrill, that touch of romance and excitement, which you got from the lines of a frisky colt at seven miles per.

OUST THE YANKEE UNIONS

To the Editor:—The criminal folly of permitting Yankee union officials to come into Canada, sign up Canadian workers, coerce Canadian employers into agreements barring all but those carrying Yankee union cards, is exemplified in the strike just ordered at the largest coal mine in Canada. The political significance lies in the fact that if the strike can be prolonged for only one week, the financial benefits to Yankee coal mines will be outstanding and perhaps even permanent. It will be recalled that during the British miners' strike in 1926 Poland captured more than half the British coal exports to Scandinavia, and has never relinquished her hold.

WALTER FOSTER.

BY PRECEPT AND EXAMPLE

To the Editor:—The observance of World Day for Animals was instituted in memory of the gentle St. Francis of Assisi, and an effort will be made to further the observance of this festival by a special appeal for funds this week.

The local Anti-vivisection Society receives no grants nor emoluments, and is supported entirely by voluntary effort. It has existed for nearly ten years and its officers have given freely of their time, money and energy, none of them having received one cent by way of salary. The bulk of all money received is spent locally.

The highest motives of altruism should inspire us to protect the weak and helpless and St. Francis of Assisi, in whose memory World Day was organized, was a willing follower of Christ Jesus, who taught us that loving charity to all must rule the world. In the names of these great examples of protective thought for animals we look for generous support and sympathy.

In spite of the innumerable demands that have been made of late upon public generosity it is believed that no one who can spare a trifle will grudge it in the cause of humanity.

TRIBUTE TO "DAN"

To the Editor:—Some good Samaritan in Victoria was kind enough to send me a Victoria Daily Times dated November 6, 1930, in which you had a front page story of Victorian approaching his one hundredth birthday. It is putting it mildly to say this story has created a feeling in my anatomy such as I have not felt since old Dan (as I have always called him) took me under his wing some forty years ago shortly after I had arrived in Vancouver; to be exact the time was the twenty-fourth of May, 1890, and the occasion was Victoria's twenty-fourth of May celebration. Amongst other happenings I attempted to win the single scull amateur championship mile and a half rowing event on the Gorge which I did handily, also won a very handsome silver cup emblematic of the event to be won twice in succession, presented by the firm of Crane, McGregor and Boggs, one of the principal real estate firms of Victoria at that time, and I am told some members of that firm are still in Victoria.

I could make this a very lengthy story if I told half of what has happened in connection with my associations with one of the finest old Scotsmen I have ever had the pleasure to meet. He made me use his place like a long-lost brother when I came to Victoria a stranger, to make myself known to the boating fraternity, then just beginning to get into the stride of rowing. Later on I built the James Bay Club's first four-oar outrigger racing boats, as well as many more for the different rowing clubs in British Columbia.

Dan and I have been pals ever since, and I am coming down to Victoria to help celebrate his hundredth anniversary. Dan McIntosh did more to make the Gorge popular in the early days than any other person I know of. He was the very essence of genius in decorating his launches, boats and canoes with Chinese lanterns and flags, and gave a great deal of his time gratis, and many of his best friends never heard of it. He was truly a Good Samaritan, and is deserving of the best Victoria can give.

I am out of the game myself now but still can enjoy a good day's fishing.

If you can spare space for this I know Old Dan will welcome it from me and I would like him to get a marked copy as I know he would appreciate it.

Why BOVRIL prevents that Sinking Feeling

Why is it that one has such a fine feeling of buoyancy after drinking a cup of Bovril? Modern research has shown that in addition to proteins of exceptionally high food value, beef has certain unique powers of stimulating cellular activity—that is to say of stimulating vitality.

Bovril is the concentrated essence of this "vitality power" of beef. That is why Bovril is such a powerful stimulant and sustainer, why, in fact, "Bovril prevents that sinking feeling."

ADDRESS GIVEN INSURANCE MEN ON CONVENTION

John McKay, Vancouver, Tells Victoria Underwriters' Association of Gathering

Giving his impressions of the fourth International Convention of Life Underwriters, held recently in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, and offering encouragement to his audience based on the inspiration he received at the convention, John McKay of Vancouver, yesterday afternoon addressed a luncheon meeting of the Victoria Underwriters' Association held in Spencer's dining-room. F. Lewin, president of the association, acted as chairman.

INSURANCE MILLIONAIRES

During the course of his interesting address, Mr. McKay described the operation of a number of insurance "millionaires"—life insurance men able to sell more than a million dollars worth of insurance a year—who attended the Toronto affair. The speaker said that there were more than 2,000 life underwriters present in Toronto, representing every quarter of North America. At each of the daily sessions, the average attendance was 1,700, and so enthusiastic were these gatherings that very often extra time was needed to complete the business of the day.

The themes of the various speakers, Mr. McKay said, dealt with methods yesterday, to-day and to-morrow. One influential man prophesied that there would be more insurance sold in the next ten years than was sold in the last eighty-seven.

Alex Peden moved the vote of thanks to the speaker for what all present agreed was a very inspiring address and one that should particularly encourage the younger men.

The meeting also moved that a letter of condolence be sent to Charles Heisterman, a member of the association, on the recent tragic death of his younger brother, John.

CANADA AND JAPAN SEEN AS GUARDS

Will Maintain Peace of North Pacific, Oriental Baron Tells Canadian Delegation

Courteous Treatment and Fine Contacts Enjoyed, J. O. Cameron Tells Victorians

A message of confidence in the development of economic and political relations between Canada and Japan and the whole-hearted belief that these two lands would continue to maintain the peace in the North Pacific, was expressed in an address by Baron Sakatani, president of the Japan-Canada Society at a dinner given by the society in honor of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce delegation at Tokyo.

The speech of the Japanese nobleman has been mailed to P. B. Fowler, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, by J. O. Cameron of this city, who is the representative of the B.C. Lumbermen's Association.

In a letter which accompanied the address, Mr. Cameron tells of the cordial reception extended to the Canadian delegation, and states that the most important men in Japan have met them.

BARON'S ADDRESS

Baron Sakatani's address follows:

"It affords me great pleasure to welcome you here this evening. I feel very proud to see before me, as our guests, a great galaxy of distinguished Canadian visitors, including among them prominent representatives of merchants, manufacturers, bankers, journalists, lawyers, engineers and others, some of them accompanied by their good ladies and fair daughters. Indeed, this is a great gathering of Canadians and Nipponeses here on our shore.

"Our society has been born to welcome your party. It is our strong desire, however, to make it grow and prosper, as the friendly relations between your people and ours must and will undoubtedly continue to grow. You may wonder that you are being entertained here by a baby. It is a baby in form, but in spirit, it is well grown in the hearts of our people. It is needless to add that the membership of our society includes the most prominent representatives of our business circles. With your permission we would inaugurate, on this happy occasion, the birth of this healthy baby dedicating it to you as a souvenir of your visit.

EXCELLENT NEIGHBORS

"Your country and mine are excellent neighbors. Our cordial relations have never been disturbed, and never will be. In my mind, there is no doubt whatever but that Japan and the British Empire will be faithful guardians of the peace of the Pacific, in the future, as they have been in the past.

"Canada is the first Dominion of the British Empire that has exchanged with us the diplomatic plenipotentiary. I feel very happy to have here present Their Excellencies Minister and Mrs. Marler, who very worthily represent the great Dominion, and are highly respected by our government and people. By the unanimous recommendation of the council of our society, I have now the honor and pleasure of communicating to your excellency that you are respectfully requested to accept the high title of the honorary president of the Japan-Canada Society.

PLEASANT MEMORIES

"Personally speaking, I visited your country some fifteen years ago, on the way from Europe. Amongst many kindnesses received there I cannot forget those great courtesies extended to me by Sir Robert Borden and Honorable Sydney Fisher, at the capital city of the Dominion. At that time I had a chance of observing something of your great country—the wonderful progress and advancement of trade and industries in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces; the vast fertile land of the prairie provinces, and the majestic and sublime mountains in British Columbia, where the resources in mines and forests are exceedingly rich. It is no wonder then that you supply to the world's markets such abundant products of agriculture, forestry, mines and fishery.

"I claim that we are one of the good customers of Canadian products—wheat, lumber, pulp, various kinds of minerals. Of course, you are one of the good customers of the commodities that we supply. The trade between the two countries has been and is growing, and growing fast. But you are well aware that the value of our purchases from Canada is double of what you purchase from us. This would not be a healthy state of things, of course. It would be advisable for you, therefore, to avail yourselves of this opportunity to extend your trade relations with us, with the view to the balancing of the trade."

M'LEOD PLAYERS DELIGHT CLUB IN IMPROMPTU SKITS

Versatility of Actors Shown in Programme Presented at Rotary Luncheon

John Angus Receives Prize For Golf Tourney; Spokes Club Meeting

Clever impromtu numbers, demonstrating the versatility of members of the Gordon McLeod English Players, proved the highlights of the programme at the Rotary Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday. Under the leadership of "Wily" Watson, a new member of the group, the actors gave several clever skits.

Welcome to the players was extended by Rev. Montague W. J. Bruce, president of the Rotarians, who wished them every success at the Royal Victoria Theatre this winter.

Rotarian C. Denham introduced Mr. McLeod, manager of the company, who referred to his happiness at being again in Victoria. He reminded the gathering that he and his company had been invited to return and were looking forward to a good season here.

Mr. McLeod introduced Miss Lillian Christine, Miss Elly Malyon, Miss Peggy Burnand, Middleton Evans, "Wily" Watson, Robert Adair, Patrick Ludlow, George Durham and Rupert Develin.

Later in the season, Mr. McLeod announced, the company would present a revue.

The impromptu programme, in charge of Mr. Watson, consisted of hilarious numbers by Mr. Adair and Mr. Ludlow.

Mr. Watson, himself, delighted the clubmen with his rapid fire witticisms and unusual "animal impersonations" on the violin 'cello.

Rotarian James Adam presented prizes to the winners of the Rotary golf tournament held Wednesday. First honor went to John Angus, who led the field in both the gross and net divisions, turning in a score of eighty-seven, which his handicap reduced to sixty-eight.

E. Tomlin was awarded the prize for the highest gross score.

The latest fashion for pet dogs in London is for them to have handkerchiefs to match those of their owners, perfumes and all.

CHOIR DELIGHTS BIG AUDIENCE WITH RECITAL

Meritorious Performance Given By Victoria Ladies' Choir Yesterday Evening

Alexander Znamenski, Russian Baritone, Enthusiastically Received

BY G. J. D.

It is a peculiar sine qua non that in musical public performances, like a problem in Euclid, which has to be demonstrated, a soloist, or a group of singers or players, are obliged to give more that one performance, or, perhaps, a whole season may pass before they prove their merits and their worth. When these have been obtained they then possess the powers of retention and attractiveness as far as their followers and listeners are concerned. In these regards local instances can be found in such as the Arion and Schubert Clubs, and the Male Chorus.

So last evening before a good-sized audience at the Shrine Auditorium did the Victoria Ladies' Choir in its first appearance this season and the choir's third recital since its inception, prove unmistakably its efficiency and musical values. Here is a body of singers to be reckoned with, and throughout a carefully selected programme were there abounding proofs of the choir's choral merits and high standard. Its forty-five singing members—always keen and intent—and Frederick Waddington, its conductor, may well be congratulated upon their excellent performance, and those present stinted not their evident delight and satisfaction.

NICELY BALANCED

Much can be said of this choir—it is nicely balanced, well-rehearsed, delightful in color effect, flexible, never forced, unanimous in attack and precision, good in enunciation, and its "soft" passages are beautifully expressed. In all, the choir sang twelve numbers, which included three extras. Among the outstanding were the opening number, Markham Lee's "To the Cuckoo" (unaccompanied); Schumann's "Night" (Triolett), charmingly expressed in its atmosphere of mysticism; Hubert Parry's "Hymn to Night," and Percy Fletcher's "Follow Me Down to Carlow," an Irish folk song; both these being splendidly accomplished in musical values, giving great pleasure. Mr. Waddington replying to the insistent demand with an English folk song "'Twas a Lover and His Lass." The two Holst numbers, "Spring" and "Summer," were delightful in expressive results, the latter sung for the most part with closed lips, proving most effective, both showing to a nicety the plasticity of the choir, one of its distinguishing features. Again was there some nice singing in the concluding

Los Angeles, Nov. 14.—Mitzi, eighteen-year-old Persian cat, came into her $15,000 estate yesterday when probate Judge Charles S. Crail admitted to probate the will of Mitzi's late mistress, Dr. Maude F. Cain.

Dr. Cain died October 18 leaving $500,000 estate. By the terms of the will, Mitzi was to get $15,000 cash and Dr. Cain's San Gabriel home, to be kept in trust "for the purpose of providing upon said premises a home and proper care for my cat Mitzi, so long as she shall live."

Mrs. Paul Anges Goetze is to receive $25 monthly while she lives in the house and cares for the cat. In addition she was granted $2,500 and the income for life from $20,000.

One-third of the estate goes to charity and other legacies to relatives and friends.

Chapter to Hold Bridge Tea to Aid Work For Blind

One of the popular events scheduled for the end of the month is the bridge-tea to be given by the members of the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter, I.O.D.E., on Saturday afternoon, November 29, in the private tearoom of Spencer's. Play will commence at 2.30 sharp, and excellent prizes will reward the winners.

Those unable to procure table reservations for bridge are cordially invited to come to tea, which will be served from 4.30 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. H. W. Davey, 346 Vancouver Street, is convening this bridge-tea, and those desiring table reservations are requested to make same with her at E mpire 3730 as soon as possible.

The members of the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter, I.O.D.E., are working hard to make this, their last social affair before Christmas, a most successful event, and it is to be hoped that the other chapter members and their friends will lend their co-operation in this matter. It is to be remembered that the funs secured through the efforts of the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter are used in a very excellent cause, that of assisting the blind of the province, and particularly of Victoria, in every possible way.

TO GIVE PRIZES AT I.O.D.E. BALL

Prizes will be given for the first time in its history at the annual children's fancy dress ball to be staged by the Navy League Chapter I.O.D.E. at the Empress Hotel on December 29, it was decided at yesterday's meeting of the chapter, held in the headquarters, with Mrs. A. D. Whittier, first vice-regent, in the chair. A prize for the best costume, boy and girl, and a prize for the best comic costume, boy and girl. Mrs. Whittier will act as general convener in the absence of Mrs. Mortimer Appleby, the regent, in England.

Mrs. J. H. Gillespie, who represented the chapter at the semi-annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter, gave an interesting resume of the proceedings, and was warmly thanked for her splendid report.

The chapter decided to send a Christmas calendar, library and nine magazines to the school at Likely, in the Peace River district. Donations were also voted to the work in India, to the B.C. Indian Cadet trophy, and for Mrs. Haldane's portrait. Ten calendars will also be given to the Boys' Central School.

number, "Requiem" (R. L. Stevenson), and again did those present proclaim their delight, being rewarded with a finely rendered extra, two verses of "Now Is the Month of Maying."

Olive Heale, the choir's accompanist, to whom a lovely bouquet was presented by a tiny tot, proved thoroughly competent and in perfect sympathy with the conductor and the singers.

RUSSIAN SINGER ASSISTS

Alexander Znamenski, a Russian singer, was the assisting artist. For the most part he sang his four groups of songs in Russian, and at the beginning of his numbers gave a short description as to their characteristics. Not knowing the Russian language, all one could do was to carry these descriptions along with the voice, and often—the more frequently than not—so good were the singer's dramatic powers, that the song's episodes were being splendidly expressed.

He has a baritone voice of considerable range, open-throated, a habit of the Russian or Slav singing, and his ability to bring out the composer's idea, his tonal phrasing was all of much credit. He, too, has warmth of manner, and his roundly resonant singing was thoroughly enjoyed. Among his songs finding most favor were "Mother" (Paschoff), "Pale Moon" (Logan), the only song rendered in English, given with unusual expression; "Do Not Believe" (Petroff); "Over the Steppe" (Gretchaninoff), and Koenemann's "When the King Went Forth to War," and this composer's arrangement of the "Volga Boatman Song," the latter again evincing the sotto voce passages and long sustained notes.

Mr. Knamenski was recalled at the conclusion of each of his groups, and among the extra numbers were one of the Mephistophelian airs from "Faust," and Schumann's "The Two Grenadiers," a remarkable example of this composer's art-lieder, in which is employed the "Marseillaise Hymn."

Ed. Holloway as accompanist to the soloist, proved his sterling musicianship and skill as a pianist.

BRITAIN VITALLY LINKED UP WITH LATIN PEOPLES

New Anglo-South American Spirit Being Developed, Says H. K. Wardle of Concordio

Suggests Trade Mission From Canada Would Be Well Received in Southern Countries

British interests are vitally linked up with the development of the countries of South America.

The Argentine Republic stands high in the list of Britain's best customers.

The railways of the Argentine, Brazil, Paraguay, Uruguay, and Bolivia are built and controled by British capital.

The people of Great Britain are emigrating to South America on a larger scale than ever before.

And a new Anglo-South American spirit is being developed.

These facts, in the opinion of Harry K. Wardle, chief architect for the Entrerios and Northeastern Railway of Argentine, may have influenced the British Labor Government in rejecting Premier Bennett's Empire preference scheme.

GOOD TRADING NATIONS

The South American countries are among the coming countries of the world and Britain, perhaps the first to recognize it, realizes the importance of retaining and developing its trade with the Latin races of the south. This must be done in spite of the desire of Great Britain to trade with the countries forming the British Commonwealth of Nations.

This is the way the situation is summed up by Mr. Wardle, who comes from Concordio, the frontier city of the Argentine, within thirty-six hours by rail from Buenos Aires.

There are over 60,000 Britishers in Buenos Aires and British nationals are proportionately distributed in other sections of the republic and in other countries of South America.

TRADE MISSION

Mr. Wardle takes the view that South America offers unusual opportunities for the development of trade with Canada.

"The people of the Argentine would sooner patronize Great Britain and her Dominons than any other part of the world," said Mr. Wardle.

He suggests that a trade misson from Canada, similar to the one now in the Orient, would be welcomed with open arms by the South Armerican people and a better understanding would undoubtedly result.

GET FAIR DEAL

"Go down there and treat them as men and you will get a fair deal," he said. "They are among the finest people on earth."

Mr. Wardle places little importance upon recent political events in South America. The revolutionary unrest in the Argentine and Brazil he attributes to the general depression from which the whole world is suffering.

"But down there they blame the government for everything and turn them out of office," Mr. Wardle said. He was willing to wager that more people are killed in Chicago yearly than in all the revolutions that have taken place in South America.

"I would sooner take a chance for my life in the revolutions of South America than in dodging the present day traffic of London or New York."

KEEN ON GOLF

The Argentinans are being taught to play golf by the British, and they make apt pupils at the ancient pastime, according to Mr Wardle.

The people of South America produce a white hope occasionally, but, taken as a whole, they have not been noted for their prowess in physical sports.

As golfers, however, they are beginning to get into their stride.

Some of the finest golf courses in the world are to be found in Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro, Mr. Wardle states.

Since his arrival in the country, Mr. Wardle has been greatly impressed by the courtesy that has been shown him by Canadians.

He is particularly appreciative of the attention accorded him and his family by the C.P.R., which company, as soon as it was learned that he was connected with a South American railway, did everything possible to make the tour through this country a pleasant one. "This is my first trip to Canada, and I have discovered that you are a wonderful people up here," he said.

Mr. Wardle has been in the Argentine for a number of years, having gone there from South Africa. He has just completed the design of the new Entrerios Railway station at Concordio.

Mr. Wardle is at the Empress Hotel with his family and is so taken with the city that he may ultimately come here to settle.

"It's the best we have seen yet," he said

PRESENTATION TO PREMIER

London, Nov. 14.—At a meeting of the delegation heads of the Imperial Conference yesterday evening there was a presentation by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Premier of Canada, of a silver salver to Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain. The presentation was made on behalf of the Dominions' delegates and bears their autographs.

The Canadian Anti-vivisection Society is numbered among the world's greatest causes. Its objects are supported by leading scientific, medical and professional men and women.

Anti-vivisection societies are organized everywhere to protect animals from the gross cruelties perpetrated in laboratory research, and to protect the public—and children in particular—from exploitation.

Belching

Everybody hates that expression

He murmured: "Oh, Pardon Me" ...a hundred times a day . . . . .

IT was embarrassing to his friends—doubly so to him. No matter what he ate, it caused gas and distress. He was nervous, irritable and rapidly losing weight. He couldn't sleep. So-called "quick reliefs" had no effect. A friend suggested Tanlac. In a few days the gaseous condition left him. His nerves relaxed. And now he is completely well—sleeps like a boy.

If you suffer with gas discomfort, pains in stomach, and are rundown from stomach disorders, why don't you try Tanlac? It is good, pure medicine—made of roots, barks and herbs—nature's own remedies for the sick. Tanlac costs less than 2c. a dose; and your money will be refunded if it does not help you. London Docks To Form Subject Of Interesting Talk

Chamber of Commerce Meeting on Friday Will Hear Port of London Authority

The quarterly meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium in the Arcade Building. Much business is on the agenda and a full turn-out of members is hoped for.

Following the business of the meeting, motion pictures illustrating the port of London will be shown by A. E. Wildey, public relations officer of the Port of London Authority. Mr. Wildey is an authority on docks and warehouses and knows the great docks of London thoroughly. His address should be a most interesting one, illustrated as it will be, by a number of excellent slides showing the great docks and the huge ocean liners that go right into the heart of the Empire's capital. The members of the Chamber of Commerce are asked to bring their ladies to hear the address.

CLASH IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 14.—More than 1,000 Communist sympathizers battled with police here yesterday in a demonstration in front of a cafeteria on West Thirty-fourth Street, which had been the scene of labor troubles in recent weeks. Half a dozen persons were injured, and between thirty and forty were arrested.

WENT TO ITALY SEEKING HEALTH

But Was Never Able to Find Lasting Relief Until He Tried New Sargon

"If anyone in Vancouver or elsewhere, no matter how bad their suffering, cares to ask me about this new Sargon medicine, I can tell them a story that will open their eyes," de-

LUCIEN ZANION

"For more than ten years I suffered tortures with stomach trouble and had gone down in weight from 165 to 138 pounds. Terrible gnawing pains in my stomach would start in about two hours after every meal; a sour water brash would come up into my throat and I'd get so dizzy and sick that many a time they would have to call a taxi and send me home from work. I tried everything imaginable in the way of medicines and treatments without relief and finally returned to Italy to see if I could recover my health. My people put me in the government mineral-water resort, but I hadn't left there a month before all my troubles came back again.

"It was when I returned to Vancouver that I heard about this new Sargon medicine that seemed to be doing so much good for people everywhere. So I got me a treatment and after the first bottle, all those pains went away and I began to eat anything I wanted without a sign of trouble with my stomach! I kept on with three bottles more; have picked up weight steadily and not in ten years have I felt so well and strong.

"I also took the Sargon Pills and they regulated my bowels better than any laxative I've ever tried—with no bad effects whatever. I just hope that this true statement of my experience will encourage other sufferers to try these two wonderful medicines and get themselves back in good health."

Sargon may be obtained in Victoria and Vancouver from all Owl Drug Stores; in New Westminster from the Bews Drug Co., in Esquimalt from Palmer's Drug Store, and in Oak Bay from Charles Hudson. (Advt.)

McLEOD PLAYERS DRAW MANY PEOPLE TO ROYAL VICTORIA

To-night and to-morrow, including a matinee to-morrow afternoon, will see the last three performances of "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," the clever comedy with which the English Players opened their second season in Victoria at the Royal Victoria Theatre. Those who have not seen this clever and amusing play should not miss the opportunity of doing so. The plot is quite unique and the acting is superlatively good. Pretty scenes and pretty dresses are also to be seen.

Next week The Players will present a comedy drama, entitled "The Bride," a very charming play that also has a slight flavor of mystery in its composition. It is by two English authors, Stuart Olivier and George Middleton. This play enjoyed a big run in London and later in the United States and Australia. This play will not be presented until Wednesday of next week, when it will begin with a matinee on Wednesday afternoon. This is owing to the theatre being engaged for The Dumbells on Monday and Tuesday next.

BERT WHEELER IN COMEDY ROLE NOW AT THE DOMINION

Imagine being born with high ideals—then realizing they never could be reached, just because nature equipped one with a "low" personality!

That happened to Bert Wheeler, yet he outgrew it to become one of the funniest men of to-day, both on the stage and in the talkies.

He is appearing here in Radio Pictures' magnificent talk, music and color operetta, "Dixiana," at the Dominion Theatre to-day and Saturday.

A critic once said of Wheeler that he was a "river of laughter." Wheeler picks that as his greatest tribute, for, he claims, it would have been much easier for him, in view of the circumstances "to be a vale of tears."

No less a person that Florenz Ziegfeld gave him his first big chance. Wheeler reciprocated by filling "Rio Rita" with laughs. His partner in his stage venture was Robert Woolsey. They have been a comedy team ever since.

LUPE VELEZ HAS LEADING ROLE IN CAPITOL FEATURE

Lupe Velez, vivacious little Mexican actress featured in Universal's powerful drama, "The Storm," now at the Capitol Theatre, began her preparation for a dramatic career while a child in Mexico. Her mother was an opera singer, and Lupe spent much of her time behind the scenes, practicing the art of making up with a red pencil and flour. "I used to stand in front of a mirror for hours, rolling my eyes and making faces, as I saw them do in the opera," she says. Paul Cavanagh and William Boyd are featured with her in "The Storm," which was directed by William Wyler.

"RAISE THE ROOF" BRINGS BRILLIANT ACTRESS TO SCREEN

"Raise the Roof," now at the Coliseum Theatre, is Betty Balfour's first attempt before the microphone and in the opinion of everyone who has seen the picture it proves her to be an unqualified success. Now that the screen has found its voice, she is given opportunities of displaying her usual versatility in a manner in which she was hitherto totally unable. The story of "Raise the Roof" provides her with numerous opportunities of displaying her ability as a dancer and singer.

Teeth Will Indicate Whether Baby Is Developing Properly

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

The circumference of the chest of the child at birth is little less than that of the head, but the difference is not usually much more than half as much. At the age of one year, the head and the chest are usually just about the same length around.

However, after the age of one year, the chest increases somewhat more rapidly in size than the head, so that at the end of five years the chest is at least one-half inch farther around than is the head.

In the case of the undernourished infant, the circumference of the chest does not increase at the same rate as that of the head, because the bony frame does not develop properly and also because the amount of fat under the skin is not what it ought to be in a normal infant.

One of the most interesting methods of determining whether or not the child is developing properly is to watch the appearance of the teeth. The teeth begin to develop long before the birth of the child. By the time of birth, the temporary teeth are usually formed beneath the gums.

However, there is considerable variation as to when the teeth appear upon the surface. The lower central teeth in front usually come out between the fourth and eighth month and the upper central teeth follow within a few weeks.

The front molars and the rest of the incisors follow between the tenth and sixteenth month. If the child receives an insufficient amount of calcium and of vitamin D, the development of the temporary teeth is late. Associated with this failure to develop are the other signs of rickets. It is, of course, recognized that the proper development of the jaws is associated with the proper growth of the teeth. The jaws of an undernourished infant and the jaws of those who have rickets are poorly formed, the face is narrow and the chin is pointed.

Mrs. Elford will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

TOO MUCH ATTENTION WILL NOT REMEDY LACK OF APPETITE

Inevitably linked with the question, "What shall I feed my child?" goes the next more important query, "How can I get him to eat it?" Seemingly the ravenous appetites with which all children should be blessed are fictitious. The usual child in the usual home, where there is always enough food and sometimes too much, is more often than not completely indifferent to his meals.

The overfed baby may drink regularly only part of his bottle feedings, and cannot be lured to take more. The child of two or thereabouts, who plays hard all day and should logically be half starved, finds meals a bore and has to be driven to them.

If there were only one reason for the existence of such conditions, it would be simple enough to right it, but there are as many reasons as there are children and homes. Each one has an effect on the other and this effect is very hard to trace down and correct.

POSTPONING CURE

Recently I listened while a fond aunt harped on the theme of her nephew's appetitelessness. She exhibited an actual pride in the methods being used to induce the child to eat. She did admit that, when possible, she stayed away from her sister's home, for the constant reminders and promises and threats all through a meal did get on her nerves. If the child's lack of appetite is caused by some physical reason, then all such methods simply postpone the day of cure. If they are, as one could readily guess, just psychological ones, encouraged by the family's ridiculous performances when he didn't eat, then there can be no cure until the family open their eyes and see themselves.

The picture of the grandmother running about the house after the boy, a plate of food in one hand and a spoon in the other, cornering him and teasing him to take just one more bit "for grandma," is so absurd that one wonders how the family can fail to see it. And this has been going on for seven years!

THE APPETITE VITAMIN

We have a leaflet outlining the usual psychological and physical reasons for a lack of appetite. If you wish to obtain it, send with your request a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper. In addition, I might remind mothers that vitamin B is called the appetite vitamin, for it has a direct effect upon the appetite. Vitavose, a wheat germ sugar product, and yeast in various forms are rich in vitamin B, which is found in milk, vegetables, eggs, internal organs (liver, kidneys and sweet-breads), and in whole grain cereals.

When the child is markedly without desire to finish his bottle or consume ordinary amounts of food, it is well to make an effort to provide additional vitamin B in one or the other of the above forms. For the small baby, give vitavose with the formula or yeast administered three times daily; for the older child, liver, eggs, and whole grain cereals (brown rice, whole barley, whole wheat, cut oats) and calculated to give additional impetus to a lazy appetite.

Wonderful Treatment For Nervous People

"Generally endorsed and prescribed by the profession, the following formula is highly efficient in loss of strength, nervous exhaustion, melancholia, anxiety, worry, dizziness, palpitation, trembling limbs, insomnia, thinness, cold extremeties, tired, "all in" feeling, and general inability to do normal everyday duties.

Instructions for obtaining and using this treatment are simple and definite. A physician's prescription is no longer necessary, because the ingredients are harmless, not injurious or habit-forming drugs. Just ask your druggist for Double Strength Erbac Tablets in sealed packages, with full directions for home use. Each package contains a 30-day treatment—which, in most instances, is more than enough to prove the value of a vigorously strong and healthy body, with abundant nerve force and vitality."—J.C.O. "SIGNIFICANCE OF POETRY" IS LECTURE TOPIC

Poetry Is Communication of Experience Through Language; Complementary to Life

Prof. T. Larsen of University of B.C. Addresses Extension Society

An address on "The Significance of Poetry" was given by Professor T. Larsen of University of British Columbia at yesterday evening's meeting of the University Extension Society in Victoria College. The thoughtful opinions of the speaker, together with his clarity in expressing them, were highly appreciated by the audience, whose feelings G. A. A. Hebden, the chairman, expressed in moving the vote of thanks.

The two questions Professor Larsen set himself to answer were, what is poetry, and what does poetry do? As the speaker said, poetry is indefinable—an opinion expressed by all worthy critics from Aristotle on. To each age it has meant something definite, and yet something different. But all are agreed, the speaker added, that poetry is the communication of experience by means of language—language rhythmical though not necessarily metrical. To make clear his definition Professor Larsen later explained what was meant by "language," "communication" and experience." "But firstly," he said, "I must tell you what poetry is not."

ART IS PERSONAL

"Human activities consist of scientific and artistic ones. Scientific activities make use of reason and the intellect; they, primarily, help to communicate information and are concerned with facts and ideas. Artistic activities make use of imagination and emotion; they communicate experiences and use facts and ideas, not merely for themselves but as elements of experience. In contrast to the impersonality of science, the personal nature of art, of poetry, makes it impossible to translate a poem from one language to another, for such a course will mean the expression of an entirely new experience—that of the translator."

Continuing in this manner, Professor Larsen said that a work of science becomes antiquated — witness such antiquation in the Greek treatises—and, unless reserved for reference, is read but once. A work of art endures and is contemplated over and over again. In addition, of all the branches of art, poetry is the easiest to understand, for its medium—language or significant sound—unlike the media of sculpture and music, is known from infancy, and is the most permanent. "The 'Iliad' and 'Odyssey,' the 'Agamemnon' and 'Oedipus Rex,' we still have with us, but where is the sculpture and music of the ancients?"

METRE NOT ESSENTIAL

Returning to his definition of poetry as the communication of experience by means of language, Professor Larsen emphasized that metre is not essential to poetry, and that the true antithesis is not between poetry and prose but between poetry and science. The fact that metre does not make poetry, the speaker added, is evident in a reading of the Book of Job, or the Psalms, or of English writers such as Milton, Browne, de Quincey and Francis Thompson — where one finds a rhythmical prose akin to poetry. For while poetry does not have to be metrical, like all the language of emotion it must have rhythm. This can be well illustrated, Professor Larsen added, in the "death-speech" of the illiterate Vanzetti during the celebrated case in Boston a few years ago. There is also no such thing as the much-discussed "poetic diction"—for the wonderful Irish lament of James Stephens, "Deidre," is merely the poet's subtle arrangement of words which, though quite commonplace, had been tempered in poetic fire.

The communication of the experience, the speaker continued, depends on the poet's ability and emotional depth, and the reader's sympathy. "We must first discover what the poet is trying to do and then, having understood, we must ask ourselves if the poet has succeeded in his aim. There is a sort of relativity of judgment, for as we develop in life we bring more to the poem and therefore take more away," said Prof. Larsen.

MATTER AND MANNER

The 'experience" of the poet, which constitutes the matter of the poem, must be subordinated in the reader's mind to the manner of describing the experience. "Poetry," Professor Larsen asserted, "is indifferent to matter. The poem must be regarded as a poem, for even if the experience which gave birth to the poem seems trivial to us it must have seemed worthwhile to the poet, and is to be considered by us in our critical appraisal." Few, it was pointed out, believe Wordsworth's creed as summed up in his "Ode on the Intimations of Immortality," but all are agreed that the poem is one of the finest written. In this way there is a difference between scientific and poetic truth. One can appreciate "Paradise Lost" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream" without believing in the theology and astronomy of the former and in the fairies of the latter. If there were not a difference between these two truths, little poetry would last more than a generation.

In summing up, Professor Larsen said all reading is the hunger for experience of men whose life is circumscribed; and that poetry is complementary to life, but must never be regarded as a substitute for living. Too great an intimacy with books and too little practical experience leads to the checking of the natural emotions, the speaker concluded.

Brentwood

The West Saanich Women's Institue held their fortnightly card party on Wednesday evening at the Institute Hall, Brentwood, ten tables being in play. First prize was won by Table No. 8 with twenty-six discs, the players being Mrs. H. Creed, Mrs. S. Lee, Mrs. J. Osborne and Mr. Little. Table No. 3 won second prize with twenty-five discs, the players being Mrs. J. R. Grant, Anderson, G Bickford and E. Bourgeoise. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Freeland and Mrs. Guy. The next card party of the series will be held on Wednesday, November 26.

CHARGE MADE BOOTLEGGERS FLOURISH HERE

Police Commission Told of Allegations Over Radio; Say Consciences Clear

Charges that bootlegging is flourishing in Victoria, alleged to have been made in a radio address over station CFCT, were brought to the attention of the police commission yesterday afternoon by Commissioner Andrew McGavin.

The address in question, Mr. McGavin said, was made on the night of November 10, on the topic of bootlegging. The speaker charged that men in office were responsible for the condition.

"I want the public to know I am not responsible for bootlegging in Victoria. If such a conditions as he described exists, then there must be something wrong with law enforcement," Mr. McGavin said.

The commissioner repeated some of the highlights of the address, to which, he said, he had listened.

Bootleggers made 100 per cent profit on liquor and all those who entered such places were assured of protection, the speaker said, Mr. McGavin related. The amount of profit they made could easily be judged from the fact that they were willing to take the chance of paying fines ranging from $300 to $1,000 if they were caught.

Commissioner Walter Staneland said he had spoken to the manager of the radio station about the matter but would like to see a copy of the address before taking action.

Mr. McGavin said he interviewed the original speaker, who had admitted the statements but said he had not mentioned the police commission.

"There is nothing to worry about, is there?" asked Mayor Anscomb. "I am sure my conscience is clear."

"So is mine, but I want everybody to know it," said Mr. McGavin.

WOMAN LEADS TINY GOLFERS

Championship Score Over Miniature Courses Closely Challenged

Golf Parties Rival Bridge Parties With Tournament On

Family rivalry for miniature golf honors has entered into the city championship tournament being conducted over Victoria courses this week to determine the king and queen of miniature golf, and cards turned in to date indicate the contest for the many prizes awarded will be keen.

Several players stand tied for honors. Many are separated by small margins, while the scores turned in since the tournament started show that the standard of play has considerably improved since the bid for honors added zest to the fascinating game.

In many instances whole families have applied for tournament cards after a series of practice games, and it is apparent that a keen but friendly spirit of competition is enjoyed. Although there is a $50 prize besides the title for both the man and woman champion, interest is being centred on whether a man or woman player will turn in the best score. So far a woman player is leading the field, and the mark she made early in the competition stands closely challenged but not beaten.

Miniature golf parties have made their debut with the tournament as a rival to bridge parties, the many prizes besides the championship prizes creating added interest to the usual game. Thanksgiving day proved a heavy day at all courses, with many of the players deciding to bid for the title honors.

TOCK NOSE NEEDS "NOSTROLINE"

OAK BAY FACES MANY PROBLEMS

Municipality Has Had to Pay For Repairing Own Sewer Systems

Reeve E. C. Hayward and members of the Oak Bay Council wrestled with the problem yesterday of how to tactfully repair the municipal sewers without having to pay for the privilege of doing the repairs or hurting anyone's feelings.

In 1912 and 1913, when Oak Bay was only a country part of Victoria, sewer systems were laid at random through the various districts. The land was later bought up by private people and homes erected on the properties. Now these sewers need repairing and when the municipal officers looked them up on their maps they found that they were running through much private property.

If the municipal officers interfere without permission to repair them they can quite lawfully be ousted as trespassers. There are about eighteen such cases. Most of the landowners have not objected to the repairs and have permitted the sewers running through their properties to be repaired. Others, however, have charged the municipality for the privilege of repairing the sewers and for the privilege have demanded a year's taxes Nothing could be done by the municipality but pay for the privilege.

That is one of the problems that has kept the Reeve and councillors working overtime at council meetings and committee meetings this year Another is the gas agreement with the B.C. Electric Railway Company. Oak Bay has wanted gas installed for some time, but, although correspondence has been carried on for more than a year nothing definite has yet been done. It is hoped now, however, that gas will shortly be installed. Many legal stumbling blocks arose before negotiations could be carried on again.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells of Pleasant Home Treatment to Bring Swift Relief

So-called Stomach Troubles—indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, sourness, etc., are, in probably nine cases out of ten, evidence of "too much acid in the stomach" souring the food, causing the formation of gas and starting acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes a full, oppressive burning feeling known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining. Get rid of Gas and Acidity, and you get rid of Indigestion.

To stop or prevent the sources and to neutralize the stomach acids and keep the stomach sweet and free from Indigestion, a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia should be taken in a little water after eating or whenever gas, sourness, pain or acidity is felt. This quickly sweetens the stomach neutralizes the acidity, stops the pain and is harmless and inexpensive to use.

Bisurated Magnesia, powder or tablets only, can be obtained from any drug store and its daily use keeps the stomach in fine condition, enabling it to do its work without the aid of artificial digestants. (Advt.)

First Road Show Of Season Opens Monday Evening

Dumbells Revue Will Be Presented Two Evenings at Royal Victoria Theatre

Does the public really want road shows? This is the question which those in control of the theatres throughout Canada have asked themselves—and have decided to put up to the theatre-goers themselves, as the final judges.

Fortunately for the future of the stage the theatre magnates have selected for this test an attraction that is known and enjoyed from coast-to-coast. The Dumbells. They have been given a route which includes the leading theatres in every city across Canada, so that the verdict will be unanimous.

Ontario, where the Dumbells have been playing for several weeks, has come out emphatically for road shows. New house records have been established.

Captain Plunkett, realizing that the future of the Canadian stage is in the balance and that much depends upon him and his associates, has gathered together every available old favorite and engaged all the new and promising talent that could be found. The result is the finest array of actors and actresses that Canada has produced. The cast includes Al. Plunkett, Fred Emney, "Red" Newman, Pat Rafferty, Harry Binns, Charlie Jeeves, Curly Nixon, Clarence Sawyer, Danny Dineen, Jessie Butt, Audrey Carline, the Corrigan Sisters and others, while the Dumbellettes, those dainty dancing girls, have been retained.

The new revue, "Come Eleven," combines all the happy features that have come to be associated with the Dumbells' offerings, clever sketches, adequate settings, lovely costumes and a wealth of song hits.

The Dumbells will play here at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday and Tuesday nights and Tuesday matinee of next week.

CLEVER COMEDIAN COMING NEXT WEEK TO THE PLAYHOUSE

Marked ability to characterize is the quality that has put George Sidney, who is co-starred with Charlie Murray in "Around the Corner," the Columbia all-talking comedy which will come to the Playhouse Theatre next week, in the front ranks of screen comedians. He doesn't have to resort to any tricks of make-up to get his laughs either. He relies entirely on his power to impersonate true-to-life types.

MARX BROTHERS IN UPROARIOUS FARCE AT THE COLUMBIA

Photography which specializes in difficult and unusual shots suggesting warm brightness, presenting novel views from unique camera angles, is a feature of "The Coconuts," the talking screen's first musical comedy, starring the Marx brothers and featuring Oscar Shaw and Mary Eaton in the romantic leads. "The Coconuts" is showing at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

PLAYHOUSE STAR HAPPILY MARRIED TO FOLLIES GIRL

The rule that actors usually marry outside the profession, seeking primarily a good wife and cook who isn't dazzled by the bright lights of stardom, doesn't hold true in the case of Clyde Cook, comedian, who plays a principal role with Rex Lease, Armida, Nick de Ruiz and others in "Wings of Adventure," the Tiffany musical drama showing to-day at the Playhouse Theatre. Cook married a follies beauty, Alice Knowlton, and claims he has the most perfect type of wife.

"Ex-Broker Fellow" Found on New Job

Toronto, Nov. 14.—"Well," said the khaki-clad oil station attendant, as he wriggled from under the car bumper, after unloosing the water from the rad, "guess I'm more used to driving a car than working on one . . . You see, I'm one of those brokerage fellows who've lost their jobs . . . Used to be a branch manager, too . . . This job's all right, though, and I'm very glad to have it."

And he went along with his task in a thoroughly capable way.

VERY FEW OUT OF WORK IN OAK BAY

Forty-two Register Council Is Told and Twenty-one Have Been Given Work

Some of Unemployed Are Youths and Have Only Been Out of Work Short Time

Forty-two persons have registered as unemployed in the Municipality of Oak Bay, the Reeve and council learned yesterday afternoon from a report read to them by R. F. Blandy, Municipal Clerk, during the regular fortnightly meeting. Work is being provided for several, but apart from those at present registered it was feared that other cases might develop during the winter that will need aid.

Included in the forty-two persons registered as unemployed, Mr. Blandy's report said, are eleven youths from seventeen to twenty years old. Most of them are not in want, their parents having a good income. No relief work has been given these youths, except two who registered early. There is a wide range in the financial resources of those registered, the report continues. Some have several dependents, or have had no work for months; others have only just become unemployed, or are far removed from destitution. The obligation on the municipality is merely "to make suitable provision for its poor and destitute," the report says.

Mr. Blandy said in his report that it might be advisable to start some special work for those youths who were in need, although the municipality was under no obligation to provide work for everyone who happened to be out of a position, as an agreement with the Government stated "contributions by the Dominion and Province—are to be made only after the submission of evidence—that a serious unemployment situation exists in the municipality."

Of the forty-two men who registered, twenty-one have been placed at work by the municipality, Mr. Blandy's report said. Eight men have obtained work elsewhere since registering, and two had failed to show up when offered work with the municipality. Nine youths and two others had registered within the last week. There were sixteen of the unemployed in the municipality with dependents and fifteen without anyone depending directly on them. Eleven of the registered were owners of homes in the municipality, four of them were veterans of the Great War and three were immigrants of less than two years' standing.

The men who were now being employed by the municipality were engaged in doing odd jobs in various districts, such as trimming trees, sweeping leaves, digging surface drains and other work. The leading surface drain being done was one on Estevan Avenue. Other work in the scheme was the clearing of the Monterey Avenue recreation ground. The first two weeks' payroll totaled $483. The Public Works Department had agreed to accept monthly account for its contribution, Mr. Blandy said in his report. The problem at present was how to make the money last through the winter and at the same time give steady employment to the most needy cases until the spring when lumber camps and summer hotels would be opened and so relieve a large part of the unemployment now prevalent.

CAMPAIGN FOR RED CROSS TO CLOSE SHORTLY

Committee Is Still Short $3,680, But Hopes to Make It Up By To-morrow

"One-time strong men who bore the burden of battle unflinchingly, now broken in body and spirit and compelled to appeal for food to preserve the lives of their families, are constantly seeking aid from the Armistice Period Committee," said an official of the committee to-day. "In most cases," he says, "the appeal is not made until suffering has become intolerable. They put off the evil hour until the last moment, hoping something will turn up to save them from the bitterest ordeal of their lives."

"But when the condition becomes unendurable and hungry children and fireless grates force them to surrender their independence and seek aid, they are enabled through the Armistice Period Fund to tell their troubles to comrades with whom they served.

"Many heartrending scenes are witnessed. Men who went through the trials and hardships of war often break down completely when relating their sad stories. With tears streaming down their cheeks they tell in broken accents of the sufferings of wives and children, and the desperate struggle which they have been making against adversity. It is hard for the applicant, and it is hard for the committee to witness the mental distress of men who were once acclaimed as heroes."

Crippled children at the Queen Alexandra Solarium have subscribed $10 to the Armistice Period-Red Cross Fund. These children have personal knowledge of the splendid work of the Junior Red Cross, through which medium many little cripples have received treatment at the Solarium that have resulted in complete cures.

Children have set an example which Fred Landsberg, chairman of the campaign committee, hopes will be followed by citizens who are in a position to give liberally. The fund is still $3,680 short of its objective, and every effort must be made if the required amount is to be raised by Saturday. The total amount received to date is $16,320.

Cheques should be sent to the honorary treasurer, R. F. Taylor, Canadian Red Cross Office, 317 Belmont House, or donations may be left at campaign headquarters, 629 Fort Street.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—While no definite word has yet been received as to the date Premier R. B. Bennett will return to Ottawa, he is now expected during the first week of December. Word has been received by Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister, that Mr. Bennett will visit the Irish Free State and northern Ireland before he returns.

JAMAICA WANTS TO TRADE MORE WITH CANADA

Desire For Closer Reciprocal Relations Stressed By M. de Cordova, Kingston Editor

Bananas, Formerly Shipped Through United States, Now Coming Direct

While the people of the West Indies are not interested in political union with Canada, there is a pronounced desire among the people of the Caribbean group to bring about a closer union in trade between these two parts of the British Empire, it is stated by Michael de Cordova, owner of The Daily Gleaner of Kingston, Jamaica, who is in the city today.

The Daily Gleaner is the most influential newspaper circulating in Jamaica and was founded one hundred years ago by Mr. de Cordova's grandfather.

B.C.'S OPPORTUNITY

In discussing trade possibilities between Canada and the West Indies, Mr. de Cordova stressed the opportunities for development and expressed the view that British Columbia could look towards Jamaica by way of the Panama Canal.

The great bulk of lumber used in the West Indies is at present purchased in the United States.

Some lumber is being shipped from British Columbia to the West Indies, but the trade could be largely increased, in the opinion of Mr. de Cordova. Canned fish is also in demand in the West Indies.

"Canada for a time tinkered with trade with the West Indies," he said "With the advent of the new Lady type of steamers in the Canadian National service, however, the picture has been entirely changed and there has been a marked increase in business.

"There is the greatest desire in the West Indies to get in touch more closely with the Dominion's life and to achieve greater reciprocal interest between the two sections of the Empire."

POLITICAL UNION REMOTE

Mr. de Cordova said that political union between Canada and Jamaica is not a question of more than academic interest, nor is annexation of the British West Indies by Canada even a possibility.

A few years ago the matter of closer union between Canada and Jamaica was spoken of and much written concerning the advantages which might accrue for both Jamaica and Canada if united, but the arguments fell upon deaf ears as far as the Jamaicans were concerned. But when this subject received some attention by Canada's Governor-General, Viscount Willingdon, following his tour of the West Indies, people were roused to take sides in the matter, stated Mr. de Cordova. The response was not favorable to the idea of the West Indies becoming a part of the Dominion, he said.

STEAMSHIP LINK

"But that does not mean that there is anything but the heartiest desire in the West Indies to get more closely in touch with Canada in the matter of trade," proceeded Mr. de Cordova.

The part played by the excellent steamship service now maintained by the Canadian National in bringing the two countries together, he said, was illustrated in his own case. Whereas formerly he spent his holidays either in England or the United States, now that the "lady" steamers have brought Jamaica nearer to the Dominion, and also brought this country more prominently before hm as a suitable holiday centre, his mind was turned to Canada when he decided to take a vacation.

In this connection he made reference to the new hotel, the building of which is being sponsored by the Canadian National, near Kingston, and which, he said, would have an influence in stimulating the tourist trade on the island.

BRITAIN'S POLICY

Far from pleasant to the West Indies, said Mr. de Cordova, were the reactions of the British Government, under the influence of Rt. Hon. Phillip Snowden, to the suggestions of the Oliver commission sent to investigate the trade of the West Indies with Great Britain.

The suggestions of the commission for extending preference in Great Britain for West Indian sugar, had not been met with approval and when the period of this preference ends next year the sugar trade would be dealt a severe blow.

A change in the British Government before that occurs might save the situation for the islands, said Mr. de Cordova.

BANANA INDUSTRY

Jamaica, however, was much better off than other members of the West Indian group, for they had such a large banana growing industry. All their eggs were not in one basket, he said.

He revealed the fact that Jamaica also had its "banana pool," which consisted of all the banana producers outside the plantations controlled by the United Fruit Company.

This co-operative organization was known as the Producers' Association, had a very large membership and had so far worked very effectively in marketing the banana crops.

Mr. de Cordova has a good word for the United Fruit Company, however, which, he said, had gone in as a pioneer and deserved the recognition due to those who had built up markets for the West Indians.

The banana trade with Canada was secure, said Mr. de Cordova. In the summer season, steamers carried as many as 60,000 stems to Canada. In the winter, when the demand slackened in this country, each steamer carried about 35,000 stems. Eighteen months ago, said Mr. de Cordova, all bananas consumed in Canada were shipped through the United States. Now all the bananas from the West Indies were being shipped direct to Canada.

Also, eighten months ago, the West Indies bought all its flour from the States through New York. Practically all the flour now consumed in the West Indies was purchased in Canada. Apples, peaches, pears, among fruits, and celery among vegetables, were supplied to the West Indies from New York. Why not from Canada? Mr. de Gordova asked.

There is no reason why Canada should not buy its grapefruit, oranges and pineapples from the West Indies.

The people of the West Indies wanted Canadian tourists and were planning hotels to take care of any business that might develop in this direction. Canada, on the other hand, could look for an increasing number of tourists from the West Indies.

Kingston, the capital and chief port of Jamaica, had a population of approximately 1,000,000 people, of whom between 20,000 and 25,000 were white.

Following arrival in the city to-day, Mr. and Mrs. de Cordova were taken on a drive through the city and environs by George I. Warren, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and Publicity Commissioner.

This afternoon they took tea at Government House.

ANNA CLENDENNAN IS ESSAY WINNER

"Canada's Last Great West," Subject Dealt With By High School Girl

Read Her Essay at Meeting of Island Authors Yesterday Evening

At the November meeting of the Victoria and Island Branch, Canadian Authors' Association, held yesterday evening in Victoria College, Mrs. H. M. Hall dealt with the novel, in its appeal and value to instruct and to amuse. She divided the era of novel production into four classes, the Victorian, which states "It is so"; the early '90's, "It is not so";; the Edwardian, "Is it so?" and the Georgian, "Let us see if it is so."

A pleasing feature of the evening was the reading by Miss Anna V. Clendennan of Victoria High School, of her essay, "Canada's Last Great West," which won first prize in the Victoria and Islands Branch, C.A.A., National Book Week competition. Donald Fraser reported that there were twenty-eight entrants in the competion and that the standard of the essays submitted was of a high order.

The second prize was awarded to Miss Noreen Creelman of the Esquimalt High School for her essay on "Alexander Mackenzie." Both young contestants were warmly applauded and the prizes were presented by Mrs. Ebbs-Canavan.

Special mention was made of the papers sent in by Ernest Mills, "The Winning of the West"; Jan Humphrys, "Settlement and Pioneer Problems";; Catherine Faickney, "The First Inhabitants of Canada"; and of Henry Somers, "The First Canadian Settlement." The last three are students of Saanich High School, and Ernest Mills is of Esquimalt High.

C. C. Pemberton presented to the library of the local branch, through the librarian, Mrs. C. D'A. Henderson, a copy of the late J. R. Anderson's "Trees, Shrubs, Food, Medicinal and Poisonous Plants," as this book is autographed by the late Charles St. Barbe, it is of increased value to the association.

Miss Pauline Havard recited two original poems, "Talbot House" and "God's Hand."

A visitor at the meeting was A. H. Sutherland, a member of the Winnipeg Branch, Canadian Authors' Association, who has come with Mrs. Sutherland to reside in Victoria.

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AWARDED TO STUDENTS

Victoria College Academic Rewards Presented at Prize Giving Ceremony To-day

Offering a message of congratulation for those students who had received scholarships and for those who led their classes in various subjects for which there were no material rewards, Prof. P. H. Elliott, principal of Victoria College, opened the prize-giving ceremonies for students at the Victoria High School Auditorium this afternoon.

S. J. Willis, superintendent of education, G. A. A. Hebden, chairman of the school board, with Victor Emery, W. C. Moresby, K.C., K. Ferguson and J. McMillan, members of the board, principals of Saanich, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Victoria High Schools, Miss Cameron, sister of the late Agnes Deans Cameron, B. C. Nicholas, Mrs. W. C. Nichol, Senator and Mrs. D. F. Green and representatives of various chapters of the I.O.D.E., as well as donors of bursaries, had seats on the platform.

After a short address by Ira Dilworth, principal of Victoria High School, scholarships were awarded to the different winners.

The awards presented were set aside for students following the final examinations at Victoria College last April. To receive them the students were obliged to continue their studies either at Victoria College or the University of British Columbia.

SEVEN FRESHMAN AWARDS

Seven were presented to those who won honors in the first year, while five others, for students at present in the U.B.C., will be sent to them.

To Miss Dorothy Johnson will be sent the Royal Institution and Frank Easton Scholarship of $50, for the highest standing in English of second-year students. Owing to the fact that Miss Johnson was unable to attend the ceremony, the award, which was to have been presented by Magistrate George Jay, will be mailed to her.

Similar procedure was followed in the case of the Alliance Francaise prize of $50 for Miss Dorothy Butler, who showed the greatest progress in the study of French last year and who is now continuing at the University of British Columbia.

Mme. Archibald, president of the Alliance, will also send the book prizes, awarded through the French Government, to David Ellis and Frances Tremayne for special progress.

The Kathleen Agnew Scholarship of $100, donated by Miss Kathleen Agnew to stimulate the study of the history of Canada, will be forwarded to Miss Mary Wallace.

RECEIVED SCHOLARSHIPS

Miss Grace Higham received the Walter Nichol Scholarship of $50 for the highest standing in French in the first year.

Major F. V. Longstaff presented the Agnes Deans Cameron Scholarship of $50 to Arthur Flows, for the highest standing in English in the freshmen year. Major Longstaff made the presentation in the absence of the donor, Mrs. Longstaff. A sister of Miss Cameron was present for the occasion.

Herbert Manson received the Kiwanis Club General Scholarship of $100 from the hands of B. C. Nichols, the club's representative at the gathering.

The latter also presented the David Spencer Scholarship of $100 to Miss Mary Leith for the highest standing in mathematics in the first year.

On behalf of the University Women's Club, Mrs. P. Barr gave her organization's scholarship of $100 for the leader of the women's classes in the first year to Hilda Lobb.

To Miss Sheila Tait was given the Major F. V. Longstaff prize of $50 for the first ranking student in first year college latin. The donor himself presented the award, while a representative of the Men's Canadian Club gave that body's bursary of $100 to Francis J. Orme, the student who took highest honors in Canadian history.

Following the ceremony parents of the scholarship winners, with invited guests, were received by the Victoria College faculty and entertained at tea.

REALTY BOARD URGED TO BACK ZONING BY-LAW

Joseph Bridgman and Other Realty Leaders Support Building Restrictions

A warm debate of the merits of zoning regulations, especially as regards the effect of apartment houses in residential areas, featured the luncheon meeting of the Real Estate Board held this afternoon at Spencer's restaurant.

H. D. Patterson pointed out that the amendment to the zoning by-law, now being considered by the City Council, would allow apartment buildings in residential areas. He believed the change would damage property values. Owners of homes were unaware of the effect and further would not know how to voice a sufficiently vigorous protest.

"It has been proved in other cities that the building of apartments in good residential districts promptly depreciates surrounding property very greatly," he declared, urging vigorous protest.

Alfred Carmichael supported exclusion of apartments from residential districts, while agreeing with David Leeming that, where half blocks are so used, limitations by zoning rules should be abolished as regards nearby property.

Major H. C. Holmes believed that, if apartments in residence areas were not allowed to use the full area of the lots, being limited to sixty per cent of the area of the property, objections would be minimized. Such provisions were to be incorporated in the revised city by-law, he asserted.

FEW GAIN FROM MANY

Joseph Bridgman objected to apartments in residential areas occupied by fine homes, because of multiple occupancy. An apartment so located might be profitable, but only at the expense of the people who had built up a handsome neighborhood.

GOOD FOR CITY

"Restrictions are good for the whole town, although the individual may kick when he sees a profitable opportunity denied. It is only a step down from apartments to rows of cabins. I would urge the board to give patient support to the zoning by-law, not to seek to abrogate it, but to amend the measure wisely," he said.

Mr. Leeming reviewed the proceedings at the public hearing on the amendment by-law, held last week by the City Council, and also described the interview between the Provincial government and a delegation from the Vancouver Real Estate Board, which had protested certain zoning regulations as confiscatory.

Major Crockett quoted from an editorial, based on an address by Mr. Justice Murphy, which referred to the fundamental right of citizens to appeal to the courts when they deem themselves injured. He contrasted this with the zoning law, which denies recourse to the courts.

IMPROPER ASSESSMENT

Major Holmes supported the Vancouver delegation's statement that large areas were improperly assessed, stating that large districts in Victoria were suffering in a like manner.

The statement which the Vancouver Real Estate Board presented to the government was referred to a special committee for preparation of a resolution of support.

AGED RESIDENT DIED YESTERDAY

The death occurred yesterday of Henry Thomas Standard, aged eighty-two years. Born in London, England, he had resided in this city for forty years. He leaves to mourn his loss, one daughter, Mrs. E. W. Elliot of San Francisco, one son, H. F. Stannard of Seattle, and four grandchildren. The remains are reposing at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, from where the funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Scarcity of Goals Continue to Feature Games In N. H. L.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Brilliant Badminton Star Will Perform Here.

Colonel Hammond Seeks Control of Madison Square Garden.

Suzanne Lenglen Through With Tennis For Ever.

ONE OF THE greatest players in the history of the game of badminton will perform at the Bay Street Armories when the touring British badminton team plays exhibition matches on November 28. Viewed in the badminton world in the same light as Rene Lacoste or Helen Wills Moody are in the tennis world, J. F. Devlin, five times holder of the all-England championship, is as nearly perfect in badminton as it is possible to be, and those who fail to see him in action will miss something real good.

In 1925 Devlin captured his first all-England championship at Wimbledon. Since then he has consistently won the highest honors, including five all-England championships. When Devlin first came into prominence a terrific smash was one of his greatest weapons of attack. This method of attack, however, has now been superseded by amazing accuracy and deceptiveness, and nearly every stroke of this expert borders perfection.

* * *

His execution of the backhand lob, one of the most difficult strokes, is so well timed that it appears exasperatingly easy to duplicate, to the average player, while the deadly accuracy of his dropshots leave nothing to be desired, his opponents being left flat-footed at back court. In fact so superb in his touch and so excellently well-placed are his dropshots that he is able to play this shot from any part of the court, with the result that his opponent is nearly always forced into returning the bird high above the net and giving Devlin sure kill.

Considering the great enthusiasm to date, officials in charge of the visit of the British players to Victoria are confident local fans will turn out in large numbers to see the visitors in action, especially in view of the educational value of the matches. Expert and beginner alike, should not fail to see the exhibition.

Word received from the east tells of how Colonel Jacob Hammond, who is in charge of hockey at Madison Square Garden, has carried the war into the enemy's camp. He is credited in some circles with having forced the resignation of Frank Bruen, Tex Rickard's successor, and now he openly announces that it is a war to the finish with Colonel Bill Carey, president of the Garden. For some time Hammond has been buying Garden stock from $6.00 to $9.00. Carey, who is ill, is shouting defiance from his bed. Hammond is reported to have his eye on a block of stock that is loose, and had a set price on it, and if he can buy it, he will have control. His wife, who is wealthy, and his brother-in-law, who is a millionaire, are backing the colonel in his new advance against the Carey interests.

The colonel proudly proclaims that he brought hockey to the Garden and made it a success. He may be entitled to consider he made it a success, but it was the late Tom Duggan of Montreal, who took hockey to Madison Square Garden, just as he did to Boston, and helped to introduce the game there when he linked up with Bill Dwyer in buying the Hamilton Tigers and transforming them into the Americans. The colonel was with that cavalcade, but later rode with the Rangers, and is still their nominal head. And then again to Lester Patrick, Victoria manager of the Rangers, is due most of the credit for the success of the game at the Garden through the fine manner in which he has piloted the Rangers. Hammond's knowledge of hockey is very little and had he not a man of Lester Patrick's ability at the helm, the Rangers would not have made so much money for Hammond.

It's all untrue—the verbal creation to the effect that "Suzzie" Lenglen is going to tennis again. "Non-non-no," says "Suzzie." And "Suzzie" should know her "nons" and "noes."

"It is past—all past—my tennis. Now I do not care to play more. I have my shop—it is content," she insists.

"Suzzie," the greatest woman tennis player the world has known, quit the amateur sport some years ago, influenced by the alluring pleas of "cash and carry" Pyle. He brought her to these shores and toured her. "Suzzie's" reward was $50,000—or was it more?

Anyway, it was plenty.

When "Suzzie" went back home, she was given a bit of a chill by those Parisians who long had idolized her. They used to tear down fences—or was is railings and grandstands?—to see "Suzzie" play as an amateur. But they couldn't bear the sight of "Suzzie" all broken out with professional rash.

So "Suzzie" laid aside her racquet and opened up a dressmaking shop. Her speciality was sport togs. A bit of a tough pull for "Suzzie" at first. But she had enough left by the Pyle contribution to weather the storm—or should one say to keep on going until she could drum up a good trade?

Anyway, "Suzzie" has been doing a brisk business in her Paris shop, the antagonism toward her because she went "pro" has evaporated, and all the beau monde of Paris are wont to Paree drop into "Suzzie's" place to chat and then to buy.

"RED DEVILS" NOW LEADING

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Furious pedaling for the lead, which constantly hopped from one team to another, early to-day left the crack French "Red Devil" team of Alfred Letourner and Marcel Guimbretiere, in the van of the bicyclists seeking victory in the seventy-fourth international six-day race here.

Detroit Scores Only Tally In Two Games To Defeat Rangers

Dolly Dolson Gives Sparkling Exhibition of Goal Tending As Falcons Open Season With Victory Over Lester Patrick's Gotham Club; Ebby Goodfellow Scores Goal; Revamped New York Americans Continue Fine Play to Hold Toronto Maple Leafs to Scoreless Draw; Constant Infractions of Rules Spoil Game and Fans Displeased.

Canadian Press

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 14.—Goals continue few and far between in the National Hockey League. Yesterday evening two games were played and the sum total of some thirty-five forwards' goal-scoring efforts was one solitary counter. This was tallied by Ebby Goodfellow, when the Detroit Falcons opened the season in the motor city and sent some 13,000 fans home happy by beating New York Rangers 1 to 0.

The other game played at Toronto, the home club and New York Americans played a scoreless deadlock after ten minutes overtime. This game, unlike that at Detroit, was devoid of anything which could be termed good hockey, unless it was Lorne Chabot's splendid goalkeeping for the Leafs.

Constant infractions of the rules spoiled whatever chance there was of the players making an interesting contest out of it.

FANS DISGRUNTLED

Altogether the officials stopped play eighty-seven times during the seventy minutes and this was coupled with the unseasonably warm weather and the players' lack of condition, resulted in some 8,000 fans going home in a decidedly disgruntled mood.

On the night's play the Americans should have won. On eight different occasions New York marksmen beat the local defence, only to find a stumbling block in Chabot, who played one of the smartest games in his career.

In decided contrast to the game here, Rangers and Falcons served Detroit fans with a sparkling exhibition of hockey. Detroit took the lead in the middle frame when the London graduate to big time hockey, Johnny Sorrell, slapped a perfect pass across to Goodfellow, who easily beat Roach.

Some hectic competition developed in the final frame, but once again Dolson stood between the Rangers. He turned aside shot after shot during a late rally.

No games are scheduled to-night.

Detroit, Nov. 14.—Detroit's Falcons opened the National Hockey League season here yesterday evening with a 1 to 0 victory over the New York Rangers, and 11,000 spectators saw one of the finest exhibitions of skating witnessed in many a day.

Johnny Sorrell, new Falcon wingman, teamed up with Eddie Goodfellow, centre, to score the lone tally. Sorrell caught the Ranger defence napping late in the second period, broke through and laid a pass to Goodfellow, who beat John Ross Roach in the Ranger net with a hard, slanting shot.

The Falcons showed little in the way of a passing combination, but revealed surprising speed and a strong defence. The Cook brothers, Bun and Bill, aided by Frank Boucher, offered sparkling passes, but "Polly" Dolson, Detroit goalie, stopped everything they had to offer.

The line-ups:

Rangers—Roach; Johnson, Bourgault; Boucher, W. Cook, F. Cook.

Falcons—Dolson; Noble, Rockburn; Goodfellow Pilmore, Sorrell.

Ranger spares—Thomson, Murdock, Keeling, Waite, Carrigan, Rodden, Regan, Peters.

Falcons spares—Hay, Aurie, McInley, Creighton, Lewis, Cooper, McCabe, Evans Hicks.

Official—Hewitson.

Summary—First period, no score; second period, 1, Detroit, Goodfellow-Sorrell, 19.45; third period, no score.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—The New York Americans and Toronto Mapel Leafs battled seventy minutes to a scoreless deadlock in the local opening of the National Hockey League here last night.

The game, played before about 8,000 spectators, was a typical early-season exhibition of the popular winter pastime. Neither team showed real form and a sa result the game was somewhat dull. In addition to this the unseasonably warm weather and ultra strict officiating detracted from the game's attractiveness.

The tie result is a fair indication of the trend of the play. The "Amazing Amerks," greatly improved over last season and possessing three snappy front lines, held the local hockeyists throughly in check with "Red" Dutton and Billy Brydge, displaying brilliant defensive work in breaking up Toronto's goal-getting efforts.

CLANCY IS STAR

King Clancy, recently purchased from Ottawa, was the backbone of the Leafs, both offensively and defensively.

Twenty penalties were meted out by the officials, all but one being for minor offences. The exception was a double major to Ace Bailey for clipping Joe Simpson, American defence alternate, over the eye with his stick.

Summary—First, second and third periods, no score. Overtime, no score.

The line-ups:

New York—Worters; Dutton, Brydge; Hines, Patterson, Burch. Subs, Pringle, Simpson, Neville, Masseckr, Carson, Emms McVeigh, Sheppard, Hughes.

Toronto—Chabot; Clancy, Day; Primeau, Connacher, Jackson. Subs, Blair, Bailey, Cotton, Horner.

Officials—Bert Corbeau and Wagner.

HEW PATERSON WINS

Defeating Jack Matson 2 and 1 in the finals, Hew Paterson won the Challoner and Mitchell Cup at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday. Conceding his opponent six strokes Matson put up a great fight, carrying the match to the seventeenth green.

W. A. R. Hadley was the winner of the first flight, defeating Alex. Watson in the finals 3 and 4. In the finals of the second flight W. H. M. Haldane defeated R. B. Bate 1 up.

FOYSTON AND BORLAND WILL BE REFEREES

Will Handle Coast League Hockey Games Along With R. Rickey and V. Lindsay

Two "Refs" Will Be Used in Each Game; Tacoma Has Financial Difficulties

Seattle, Nov. 14.—Four whistle tooters have been selected by Frank Patrick, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, to handle the refereeing job made vacant by the departure of Mickey Ion for the east. The four are Frank Foyston and Roy Rickey, former members of the old Seattle Metropolitans of world championship fame; Bill Borland, who was with Victoria and Seattle during the 1928-29 season, and Vadis Lindsay, one of the late Pete Muldoon's original Eskimos, who last year was arbiter-in-chief of the Seattle City League.

Two men will be used in each game, for the early part of the season at least, as it may be a bit too large an assignment for one official to watch all the infractions of the code under the new rule on offsides as play is carried into the defensive zone.

All four men will be given thorough tryouts to establish their claims to regular refereeing berths. Borland and Rickey will handle the Seattle-Vancouver opening clash at Vancouver next Monday, the former as referee, the latter as judge of play. The same pair will work the Tacoma-Portland game at Portland on the following Thursday. Appointments have not yet been made for the Seattle opener against the Buckaroos here next Friday.

TACOMA HAS DIFFICULTIES

Patrick, who was in the city yesterday on league business, had nothing to say regarding the situation in Tacoma, where the interests behind the construction of the new auditorium are encountering some difficulty in completing their financing. H. A. Briggs, president of the Tacoma Mortgage Company, which is handling the project, was in conference with Patrick, but neither cared to issue any definite statement as to when completion of the building could be expected.

The league president did, however, make it clear that the league was prepared to go ahead with its schedule with or without a rink in Tacoma.

TURNER CUTS DOWN

Manager Lloyd Turner yesterday completed the pruning of his Eskimo squad to the eleven men the league rules allow each club to carry. Fat Paulder, defence recruit from Edmonton, was turned over to Sammy Care's San Francisco club of the California League on loan. He will probably be wearing a Seattle uniform next season if not recalled earlier.

Herb Stuart Is Sold to London By Detroit Club

Detroit, Nov. 14.—Manager Jack Adams of the Detroit Falcons, National League hockey team, to-day announced the sale of Herbie Stuart, goalie, to the London, Ont., team of the International League. Stuart, goaltender for the Detroit Olympics, International League team, last year, refused to sign a contract this year calling for a $1,000 increase to play with the Falcons.

Manager Adams said the London club had accepted Stuart in trade for Johnny Sorrell, wing man, acquired by the Falcons from London early this season.

AL SINGER TO DEFEND TITLE THIS EVENING

Lightweight Champion Will Engage Tony Canzoneri in 15-Round Bout at N.Y.

Singer 2 to 1 Favorite to Retain Championship; Fought Draw in Last Match

New York, Nov. 14.—Al Singer's first defence of his lightweight championship brings him up against rugged little Tony Canzoneri in Madison Square Garden to-night in a fifteen-round bout.

Singer, who won the title by knocking out Sammy Mandell in a single round here last summer, is a favorite at odds of 2 to 1 or more. Singer campaigned in brilliant fashion through the summer but was knocked out in three rounds by Jimmy McLarnin in an over-weight match in September.

Tony has had none too successful a time of it in recent months. He was beaten by Mandell in the Rockford Sheik's last successful title defence and then was outpointed by Billy Petrolle.

Singer and Canzoneri have met once before, their first match being a draw.

Hamilton Tigers to Clash With Argos In Deciding Game

Bitter Rugby Football Rivals Meet To-morrow in Deciding Battle for Interprovincial Union Championship; Tigers Promote Two Junior Members to Strengthen Club for Probable Participation of Canadian Play-downs; "Pep" Leadley, Great Halfback, Will Turn Out With Tigers; Queen's Play McGill in Crucial Tilt.

Canadian Press

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 14.—Rivals in sport for years the cities of Hamilton and Toronto are going themselves one better in connection with the Tiger-Argo football game here to-morrow which will decide the interprovincial union championship for another season.

Charges and counter charges are being hurled back and forth between the respective club members and the annual clash of these two fine teams on the Varsity Stadium promises to excel in rivalry and bitter competition any other clash has gone before.

Looking ahead to possible participation in the Canadian Rugby Union Playdowns, officials of the jungle kings, decided it would be a wise policy to promote two players from the Tiger Cubs, Ontario Rugby Football Union western group champions, to the reserve list of the senior team. The players elected were Buster Reed and Cecil McBride. There is a catch in this seemingly innocent move, however, as Tigers planned to qualify the pair by injecting them into the game against Argos. There is a clause in the big four rule book which states "all applications for playing certificates must be in the hands of the secretary of the union on Monday preceding the match in which the applicant is likely to take part."

While the Tigers may not be able to use the Cub players they intend using Frank "Pep" Leadley, splendid drop-kicking half-back for relief on the backfield and thus qualify him for the playdowns, providing Tigers win.

Queen's University, who appear to have the intercollegiate nion title firmly within their grasp, held a strenuous workout yesterday in concluding their training for the game with McGill University.

Victory for Queen's will give them the championship for another year and the right to meet the winner of the Tiger-Argo game in the eastern Canada semi-finals. The players, however, in the event they win have not yet decided whether they will don football togs again.

University of Toronto, pinning their hope on a surprise win by McGill over Queen's leave to-day for London, where they play the University of Western Ontario Mustangs to-morrow.

Mrs. Richardson Wins Medal Round At Colwood Links

In the women's monthly medal round at the Colwood Golf Club yesterday, Mrs. J. H. Richardson was the winner in class "A," with a gross score of 101, which her handicap of 19 reduced to a net 82. Mrs. E. C. McQuade and Mrs. Morris were tied for the honors in class "B," each with net scores of 84. In the hidden hole competition, Mrs. McQuade was the winner, with 34, 12, 22.

Miss Dunsmuir Again Head Of Colwood Women

Re-elected Captain at Annual Meeting of Members of Local Golf Club

Miss E. Fitz-Gibbon Elected Secretary; Last Year's Activities Reviewed

Miss Elinor Dunsmuir was re-elected by acclamation as women's captain of the Colwood Golf and Country Club, at an annual meeting of the members held at the Club yesterday afternoon. Miss E. Fitz-Gibbon was elected secretary, and the committee chosen includes Dr. Georgine Luden, Mrs. Forbes Wilson and Miss Kathleen Fraser.

Miss Dunsmuir in her annual report reviewed the year, which had been a very busy one, with many competitions arranged. The furnishing of the new clubhouse had been one of the undertakings of the members, a substantial sum being raised through the medium of a largely-attended bridge tea, other donations being received at various times to supplement the furnishing fund. Miss Dunsmuir expressed her sincere thanks to the secretary, Mrs. Forbes Wilson, for her support, to Mrs. Walter Parry for her ever-ready assistance, and to Miss Noonan for undertaking the preparation of the notices for the annual meeting. The financial report was very gratifying.

Prizes were then presented to Mrs. J. H. Richardson and Miss Morris, who won the monthly medal competition held yesterday, and to Mrs. E. C. McQuade, winner of the hidden hole, while Mrs. Richardson was also presented with the rose bowl as winner of the annual par competition. To Mrs. Parry, Miss Dunsmuir presented a handsome leather handbag in appreciation of her yeoman services as assistant secretary.

At the close of the meeting, Miss Dunsmuir and Mrs. Forbes Wilson entertained the members at tea.

Drastic Changes In Fishing Regulations Sought By Sportsmen

Imposing of Licenses, Establishment of Restricted Areas for Fly Fishing, New Possession Limit and Appointment of Guardian for Sport Fishing Waters Are Among Recommendations Made by Meeting of Local Anglers; Will Draft Resolutions for Presentation to Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Federal Minister of Fisheries.

Drastic changes in the present regulations governing sport-fishing on Vancouver Island were advocated at a mass meeting of local sportsmen held yesterday evening at the Chamber of Commerce under the auspices of the Victoria and District Fish and Game Association. Suggestions to introduce a fishing license, to set aside certain lakes and waters solely for fly fishing, the reduction of the present limit for one day, the imposition of a possession limit and to have a guardian for sport fishing waters, exclusively, were put before the meeting and heartily approved. Senator G. H. Barnard acted as chairman of the meeting.

The following committee was selected to put the resolutions into shape for presentation to Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Federal Minister of Fisheries, when he visits Victoria next week: E. L. Tait, chairman; Frank Higgins, K.C.; W. N. Lenfesty, Major Roger Monteith and H. D. Paterson. At the request of the meeting Senator Barnard consented to act as an ex-officio member of the committee and stated he was willing to introduce the federal minister to the committee.

Upon being called upon by the chairman to explain the objectives of the gathering Roger Monteith, secretary of the Victoria Fish and Game Association, told of the many contentious matters that local sportsmen desired settled once and for all.

In replying to the secretary's address Senator Barnard advised those present to whip any recommendations they might make into definite form for presentation to the federal member. It was with this idea in view that the committee of five was named. Mr. Barnard stated he knew Mr. Rhodes to be an enthusiastic sportsman and felt sure he would give any recommendations made by Victoria sportsmen serious consideration.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM

Declaring changes were needed in the present regulations to meet a serious problem, E. L. Tait, president of the Victoria and District Fish and Game Association stated the local organization had been trying for years to have the present regulations changed to meet existing conditions. He declared the supply of fish was being rapidly diminished through the present laws and advised the imposing of a license, the proceeds from such to be used towards bettering conditions. It was his opinion the Federal Government should lend assistance the first year, or until the license fees provided sufficient funds to look after the government of the sport.

Advocating the setting aside of certain lakes and rivers for fly fishing only, Frank Higgins, K.C., gave a much appreciated talk. He named Prospect Lake, Cowichan River, Big and Little Qualicum Rivers and the Nanaimo River as the waters that should be restricted.

ADVOCATES LICENSES

Mr. Higgins also recommended the imposing of a license fee of $2.50 for residents and $10 for non-residents, also the appointment of a special warden whose duties would be to look after sporting fish and to study their habits and the best manner in which to foster them. He also suggested that fry be kept until they were a certain length before they were planted out, and this work to be carried out by experts. The speaker then told of the havoc wrought in the United States by continued use of the spinner and worm, as a bait, trolling and bait fishing. He stated the only way in which to save fish on this island was to prohibit this method of angling.

Mr. Higgins told of regulations adopted in New Zealand. Before fishing was restricted to fly only in certain waters, New Zealand had nothing to offer in the way of sport fishing, but with the banning of certain streams and reserving them for fly fishing only, fish were plentiful and that country can now boast of having the best sport fishing lakes and rivers in the world, Mr. Higgins said. He also stated that good sport fishing lakes and streams were one of the country's greatest assets, and worth millions of dollars to any community, especially from the standpoint of tourists.

The question of the limit on grilse and salmon was raised by Harold Paterson. He stated the present limit of five per man per day or ten per boat per day was too small and recommended the local fishermen ask for a change. He also asked for a definition between a salmon and a grilse.

In an effort to halt the destruction of fish by Merganzer ducks the meeting passed a motion recommending that permission be given game wardens to kill these birds. However, it was brought to the notice of the meeting that these game birds are protected by a treaty between Canada and the United States.

Major Monteith recommended a limit of fifteen fish per day and thirty as a possession limit. This would stop the wholesale catching of trout and would prevent the smoking and salting of them.

Another question raised was how license would effect women and children and after discussion the matter was referred to the committee.

Juvenile Soccer

The following matches are scheduled to-morrow in Division I of the Juvenile Football League:

Sons of England vs. Stevens at Victoria West Park, 1.30 o'clock.

Saanich Thistles vs. Oak Bay United at Victoria West Park, 3 o'clock.

ESQUIMALT AND SAANICH WILL CLASH

Undefeated Leaders of First Division Soccer Meet Stiff Opposition To-morrow

Victoria West and Jokers Play at Beacon Hill; Victoria City Will Be Idle

With only five teams in First Division soccer, owing to the withdrawal of the Five C's, two matches will be played to-morrow afternoon. At the Royal Athletic Park, Esquimalt, undefeated leaders of the league, will meet Saanich Thistles, while at Beacon Hill Victoria West and the Jokers will play. Victoria City will be the idle team.

Although they are the only unbeaten team in the First Division, Esquimalt must retain their record to-morrow in order to hold their undisputed lead. The Dockers are only one point ahead of the Thistles and Jokers, who are in a tie for second place.

Last Saturday Esquimalt flashed fine form to eliminate the Victoria West Club from the Milton Cup series. In their first match with the Thistles the Dockers were held to 1-1 draw after a fast match. Both clubs will be at full strength and eager to hold their positions in the league averages.

With a 2 to 1 victory over the Wests in their first meeting this season, the Jokers are hoping to make it two in a row. The Jokers have always proven a tough team for the Wests. Last season they eliminated the Greenshirts from Molton and Jackson Cup series and then started off this season with a victory.

THE TEAMS

Teams for to-morrow follow:

Saanich Thistles—Bridges; Essler, J. Price; Williams, Joe Crowe, Jim Crowe; McMillan, F. Price, Burns, Minnis and Vigers.

Jokers—Chalmers; Carmichael, Leggett; Stofer, Bunyan, Gloag; Heal, Campbell, Betteridge, Watson and Stickney. Reserves, Smith and Collie.

Roughriders Walk Over Meralomas

Beats B.C. Champs 17 to 0 In First Of Western Finals

Western Canada Rugby Football Champions Ride Roughshod Over Vancouver Gridders in Night Contest; Are Overwhelming Favorites to Retain Championship; Three Unconverted Touchdowns and Two Rouges Scored by Prairie Team; Meralomas Only Threatened to Score Once; Second Game Saturday.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, B.C. Nov. 14.—Regina Roughriders look to be headed towards their fifth straight western Canada football title. In the first game of the series for the titular honors, the Riders ran roughshod over Vancouver Meralomas, British Columbia champions, at Athletic Park yesterday evening, and piled up a 17 to 0 score. It was the first contest of a best two out of three game series, and if yesterday evening's contest can be taken as a criterion, it is unlikely the series will be extended beyond the second game, which is scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Only a startling upset will uncrown the visiting Saskatchewan team now, and it is not probable that such a reversal of form will occur. On yesterday evening's actual play, the riders should have won by a larger margin, only the "never say die" spirit of Meralomas keeping the coast champions from suffering from a complete drubbing. Play at practically all stages was in Vancouver territory, and only once did Meralomas threaten to score. That was in the final period, when Burraston, stocky little local half-back, kicked over the Regina goal-line to Bloomfield, who, however, ran the ball out of danger.

THREE TOUCHDOWNS

Three unconverted touchdowns, and two rouges accounted for the Roughriders' margin of Victory. They were on the offensive throughout, with the punting and running of the diminutive Sol Bloomfield leading the attack. Bloomfield gained more distance in his efforts than did all the Meraloma players combined.

But while Bloomfield proved the game's individual star, it was the well-coached Regina front rank that paved the way for the gains made by the speedy backfield. Time after time the visitors' line ripped huge gaping holes in a wavering Meraloma front line of defence for the ball carrier to dash through unmolested.

On a field made slippery from a light snowstorm in the afternoon, the visitors started on the path towards victory early in the game. Before the first quarter had ended, they had scored a rouge and an unconverted touchdown for six points. In the second session they got another unconverted touchdown to make it 11 to 0 at half-time.

COSTLY FUMBLE

In the third quarter, a Meralomas fumble was recovered behind the goal-line by a visiting wingman for a touchdown, which also went converted, while an attempted placement which rolled to the deadline in the fourth quarter finished the scoring.

FIRST PERIOD

Regina took the offensive soon after the opening kick-off, when a Meraloma fumble during a scrimmage gave the Riders possession on the local's twenty-yard line. Regina could do nothing, however, and Meralomas finally got a break when Regina lost possession on a fumble on the locals' thirty-five-yard line. Knifing thrusts by Bloomfield and Grassick ultimately carried play to Meralomas' five-yard line, from where an onside kick by Mitchell went for a single point.

Regina kept pressing. Long runs by Bloomfield and Grassick and ground-gaining plunges by Urness and Currie finally carried play to Vancouver's three-yard line, from where Currie plunged over for a minor score. Bloomfield failed to convert. The first quarter ended with Regina in possession on Vancouver's forty-yard line.

SECOND PERIOD

Regina made it 16 to 0 soon after the second half got under way, when Fraser fumbled Bloomfield's long bounding punt behind his own line, and Bush fell on it for the Riders' third touchdown. It went unconverted. It was another bad break for Meralomas, who were just beginning to show signs of doing something in an offensive way themselves.

THIRD PERIOD

Meralomas were given a lease of life when Regina suffered from several successive distance penalties Burraston punted to Bloomfield behind Regina's goal line, but the little Roughrider half back ran it out of danger. Several end runs and a couple of plunges and a long kick by Bloomfield put play in Vancouver territory once more, and the temporary Meraloma threat was at an end. Three-quarter time found Regina in possession on their own forty-yard line.

FOURTH PERIOD

Burraston and Fraser bumped into one another in attempting to catch Bloomfield's punt to Meraloma's twenty-yard line, and Urness recovered the loose ball. An attempted place kick was run out by Burraston and another score was temporarily averted. Riders kept pressing, but Meralomas were fighting right back and the visitors were being held on even terms for the first time during the game.

Regina got in again when a forward pass, Williams to Goodman, netted twenty-five yards and put play on Meralomas twenty-yard line. An attempted place kick by Grubb went for a single point. In the dying moments of the game Meralomas tried a series of forward passes, but it netted them nothing.

WILLIE HOPPE TO ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION

Veteran Billiard Star Continues Move to Break Monopoly of N.B.A.

Plans Exhibition Tour When He Will Form Sectional Groups; Gets Backing

New York, Nov. 14.—Pursuing his move of independence, Willie Hoppe announced yesterday his plan to form a new organization known as the Federation of Billiard Players, a national, self-governing membership body to guide the destinies and finances of players in this country. Through this medium Hoppe hopes to break the alleged monopoly of the National Billiard Association.

"I have obtained more than sufficient financial backing for a running start here in New York," said Hoppe. "On December 1 when I begin an exhibition tour that will take me to the Pacific Coast, I shall organize the sectional membership groups and be ready for national incorporation by the first of the year."

Hoppe bolted the N.B.A. this week with the announcement that he would defend his 18.1 balkline title against Walker Cochran next week.

Militiamen Expected to Take Senior Rugby Opener Here To-morrow

Oak Bay Wanderers Fielding Strong Squad; Two Intermediate Matches

With a decided advantage over their opponents, Victoria's senior rugby champions, the Canadian Scottish, will take the field against the Oak Bay Wanderers in the opening game of the senior league at Oak Bay Park to-morrow. The Scottish have not only the psychological advantage of being champions, and having defeated the Oak Bay boys in a practice game, but have an edge on their opponents through having played together for some time, while their opposition was newly formed this year. On paper, the militiamen are outstanding favorites.

But judging from the fight the newcomers gave the J.B.A.A. squad in their exhibition on Monday the Wanderers will be worthy rivals in the opening clash. At all events the Highlanders will field one of their strongest teams for the en counter.

With Parfitt holding down the full-back position and Usher, Pease, Putman and Hopewell on the three-quarter line, the Wanderers appear to have a fair attacking and defending backfield. Simmons and Haines, two tricky halves, who should go a long way with their dummy passes and heady plays, promise to give the three plenty of action, while the forwards, including Roberts, King, Hicks, Hood, Douglas, De Blacquier, Jones and Golby should be in the fight all the way.

As far as the attack is concerned, Freddy Pease and Chris Usher have shown plenty of speed in practice games, while Putman, an old Navy player, is always considered a safe bet in combination plays. Harold Pendray has been spendin gplenty of time coaching the squad and has it in good working order.

MILITIAMEN STRONG

Against these boys Campbell Forbes will lead a squad including ten former rep team players.

Jack Bryden, husky fullback, whose kicking and tackling drew high praise in the fixtures against the Japanese here, will be in his old place. Bill Oliver, one of the old standbys, will play on one wing for the Scots with Bern Kinsman, another veteran militia player holding down the position on the opposite side of the field. Jack Horne, Canadian and English code star will play with Pete Turgoose, a former rep man, inside. Bill Pollard and Normington, two fast boys who are reported to be going better than ever, will play halves, while the old Scottish eight-man scrum, led by the Forbes Brothers and Godfrey Wenman, is expected to function in its old style. Bill Wharton, hook extraordinary for the soldiers, will look after the ball as soon as it is rolled into the scrum, while Cy Bernard, fast break-away man, Johnny Rowland, Bill Porteous and Pat Parr, all members of former all-star squads, will complete the pack.

From early season performances, it appears that the team should give the Wanderers more than enough to worry about when they trot onto the field.

FORCED TO START LEAGUE

Decision to open the senior league to-morrow instead of leaving it a week, when the union hoped to secure the Royal Athletic Park, was reached yesterday evening when the officials decided that the postponement would crowd the season. They considered the closeness of the first McKechnie Cup fixture for this city and decided the more practice the different teams in the league secured before the match in Vancouver on December 6, the better it would be for the team.

Under present arrangements, the Wanderers will oppose the Bays at the Royal Athletic Park a week from to-morrow, while the following Saturday a "rep" team will meet a second fifteen to practice for the Mainland game.

The senior game at Oak Bay Park will be preceded by the intermediate fixture between the Canadian Scottish and the Oak Bay Wanderers. The second division squads will take the field at 2 o'clock. The senior will start at 3.15 o'clock. The Wanderers: Cox, Williams, McConnan, Thornburry, Boorman, Crombie, Hayward, Stewart, Campbell, Ackland, Sharp, Dickinson, McGregor, Brake and Greenslade. Pangman will be spare three-quarter.

INTERMEDIATE FEATURE

In the feature intermediate fixture, Victoria College will stack up against the Bays at Victoria High School. The match will be the pivot of the first half and will virtually decide whether or not the Collegians will be unchallenged champions. So far the students have won three games out of three starts. The oarsmen have dropped one and won one. A victory for them over College to-morrow will put the teams on even terms.

While they came within an ace of beating the crack Craigdarroch fifteen in the first game of the season, they are not expected to repeat their performance, but will do all in their power to overcome the city and provincial champions.

HIGH TO PLAY UNIVERSITY

At 2 o'clock to-morrow Captain Eyre Patrick will lead his Victoria High School fifteen against the University School on their grounds. To date the black and gold ball-totters have won two and are confident of making it three in a row. After the game to-morrow the team will go into practice for its final league game which is to be played December 15 against the Brentwood College aggregation. Those taking the field for the High in the Scott-Monteiet Cup fixture to-morrow follow: Fullback, Walter Stipe; three-quarters, Art Chapman, Lynn Patrick, Bruce McMurchie and Gordon Scott; halfbacks, Bobby Ferguson and Harry Robson; forwards, Reg. Bristowe, Gordon Thorpe, Gim Fyke, Bill Lee, Frank Johnson, Murray Patrick, Upward and Ed. Sturrock.

Stribling Says He Will Battle German For Title Next June

Monroe, La., Nov. 14.—W. L. (Young) Stribling, here for a boxing exhibition, said yesterday evening he would fight Max Schmeling for the heavyweight title next June in Chicago or New York.

Stribling said terms already had been agreed upon and the contracts would be signed next January.

ARSENAL TO MEET CHAMPS ON SATURDAY

First Division Leaders Will Battle Sheffield Wednesday at Home

London, Nov. 14.—Last Saturday Arsenal had to fight off the challenge of Aston Villa to retain their lead in the championship table of the English Soccer League, First Division. That match was played at Highbury, the home grounds of Arsenal. Next Saturday the Londoners must again struggle to keep their lead, but this time they must travel. Their opponents will be Sheffield Wednesday, the league champions, who have steadily climbed up to the runners-up position. To fill up the cup for soccer fans in England, Aston Villa will have to meet Derby County, and the third position in the standing is involved in this game.

Everton, leading the second division, have an easy task on Saturday as they meet Millwall, who should not give them much of a battle. The second club, Preston North End, though at home, will get a much more severe test as their opponents are West Bromwich Albion, who are in fourth position in the table.

NOTTS PLAY TORQUAY

Notts County, the only unbeaten club this season in league football in the British Isles, and leaders in the southern section, Third Division, must travel to Torquay, and may lose their proud record as Torquay are a tough team to beat at home. They are third in the championship table.

In the northern section, Lincoln City, pace setters, have also been provided with stiff opposition in Wrexham, third in the table.

In the Scottish First Division the match which will attract the biggest crowd will be the meeting between Queen's Park and Rangers, even though the amateurs have been doing none too well this season.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—Wheat: Prices started off one cent lower this morning based on the weakness in Liverpool and Buenos Aires and the lack of export business overnight. Buyers of the last day or two were throwing their holdings overboard during the first period which found the buying support very small and what orders were in the pit were coming through commission houses.

Chicago was much firmer than Winnipeg, especially in the December month which was little changed from the previous close owing to considerable short covering. The trade was largely local in character and rather featureless.

The cash market was rather quiet there being only a small demand for the different grades of wheat. Offerings were not pressing and spreads were ⅛ off to ¼ better according to the grades most favored. No export business overnight outside of two or three loads of durums. There was no change in the flour situation.

Liverpool closed ⅝ to 1¼ lower, and Buenos Aires was ½ to ¾ off at midday. Country marketings of wheat on Thursdays were 2,143,000 bushels as against 786,000 a year ago.

Winnipeg futures closed right on the bottom after turning decidedly weak during the last ten minutes with locals dumping their long wheat on reported trouble between the banks, the three western provinces and the pool, the banks not being satisfied with the pool's financing arrangements. At the close prices were from 3 to 3⅝ down for the day.

(By Branson, Brown and Co. Ltd.)

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Wheat: December again held fairly firm to-day with considerable backspreading again in evidence. Outside of local developments the general news was anything but encouraging and there was steady pressure on the deferred months. Clearances for the week were 6,671,000 bushels, which although about 2,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago, were not as large as expected.

Argentine shipped 878,000 bushels and Australia 1,720,000 bushels. Cash demand here was moderate but spot prices were rather steady. Receipts small at seven cars estimated with primary arrivals liberal at 1,104,000 bushels against 703,000 bushels a year ago.

Pronounced weakness at Winnipeg and Minneapolis was a discouraging feature of the day's developments. Liverpool closed ⅜ to 1¼ lower and Buenos Aires was half to three-quarters off at mid-day with rust reports apparently attracting little attention in either Argentine markets or abroad.

Corn: Developed a rather heavy tone in late trade, the decline in wheat being a factor. While corn in the cash market was weak, losing much of the face premium it has been commanding, other grades were fairly steady. Cash demand was moderate and on other hand the country offerings were limited to small amounts.

Weather promises to be more unsettled. Mill feed prices have dropped still further, which is unfavorable from a corn standpoint.

Winnipeg Wheat Breaks To New Low Levels

Winnipeg wheat prices to-day crashed their bottoms to establish new lows. Chicago wheat did not break to new lows.

To-day's slide of three cents a bushel in Winnipeg was held by grain men to be in line with the recent intimation of London and Liverpool grain men that they were going to put grain prices as much as 20 per cent lower within the next few months.

"To-day's break came as a big surprise, I have to admit, as a rise had been expected from the recent lows," said H. W. Laird in his market comment to-day. "Much lower prices are still indicated to come, some time or other, but I did not expect them here. Winnipeg May wheat is due early next year to make a bottom around 50 to 55 cents a bushel. It is all very bad for the poor farmers and I can tell you they are suffering down on the prairies. There is too much wheat for the consumption and the more the governments try to interfere and hold prices the worse it gets."

Chicago, Nov. 14.—"There was heavy buying of December wheat against sales of May by shorts in the former delivery and also buying here against sales in Winnipeg to close spreads," The Chicago Tribune to-day says.

"There is little in the general run of news to cause buyers of wheat to take hold freely. Good rains were reported in Argentine."

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—Export sales were estimated at only three-quarters of a million bushels of Canadian wheat.

Prairies May Float Loans to Pay Off Wheat Pool Losses

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—Plans of the Manitoba Wheat Pool for a repayment scheme to make up losses in the 1929 crop, guaranteed by the provincial government, are reported not acceptable to the lending banks.

Repayment was to be spread over a term of years with no instalment in 1930. The banks were to carry the account backed by the present government guarantee until the losses were paid. This feature, it is reported, is unsatisfactory to the banks.

The suggested alternative, it is understood, is for the western governments to float a loan and pay off the losses to the banks and accept securities of their respective pools.

Heads of the three prairie governments were in conference here to-day discussing recent developments in the grain marketing situation as affecting the three wetsern provinces.

Since the Edmonton conference, when the premiers gave full denial that the lending banks of the wheat pool had asked for an implementing of the government's guarantees for pool liabilities, Manitoba Wheat Pool delegates, in session here, gave approval to a delayed payment plan for reimbursing the banks, Premier John Bracken gave approval to the plan.

MIND OPEN ON PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Prices rallied just before the close on Toronto Exchange to-day and carried stocks up fractionally.

The movement began in Ford of Canada. Ford had been approximately one and a half points at mid-day and towards the close it suddenly firmed above 21 to show net gain of approximately two and a half points. Nickel and Noranda were supported the former regaining a small loss and closing just above last night. Noranda touched 19 for a fractional advance.

Oils were a strong spot all way, the group leadership resting upon McColl-Frontenac to-day. Active buying shot the price up nine points to a high of two, the close only slightly below that figure. Rumors again were circulating connection McColl with Cities Service, Shell and or two other large companies.

B.A. Oil, Imperial, International Petroleum, left off better. Supertest registered a gain of one point.

C.P.R. strengthened again, selling up at 44 to-day.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Barron's Weekly, widely followed in the business world, has taken an open-minded stand on the question of public utility ownership and regulation.

In a recent article it says that the public which pays the bills is entitled to the best and cheapest service that can be rendered at a time and a place by anyone.

"If it can best be rendered by public ownership and operation, then public ownership and operation should be the policy," this publication says. "If it can best be rendered by private ownership and operation under regulation, let private ownership and operation be the policy. If it can best be rendered by competing services, then let them compete."

More and more the question of public utility regulation or ownership will be determined on the basis of merit, on how the people feel about the rates charged and the service rendered.

TO-DAY'S REPORTS ON CALGARY OILS

By Special Service of Miller, Court & Co., Victoria Office

One of the next completions in the field, Mayland No. 3, drilling important acreage in the company's southern Turner Valley tract, was making hole late last night at about 300 feet in the lime. J. H. McLeod, production manager of the Imperial Oil, when asked if a production test was imminent at the well, stated that some additional footage would probably be made before the initial test operation of the baler was started. The well is drilling with rotary, using water for circulation fluid. An encouraging amount of gas is reported to have been apparent in recent lime boring.

Okalta No. 1 was reported producing at a rate of 150 barrels of naphtha daily yesterday. Okalta No. 2 was being drilled from 170 feet in the lime at a total depth of 4,882 feet. Okalta No. 3 was reported producing about twenty-five barrels daily.

Signal Hill's Moose Mountain wildcat, in the foothills belt west of here, has made three feet of new hole since the oil showing was struck last week. Additional oil has seeped into the hole in the continued drilling.

Drilling is steadily progressing at the Hudson Bay Oil and Gas Company well, Paintearth No. 1, north of Castor, Alta. The drill is now about 2,300 feet down.

Definite Upturn Is Shown In Bond Market

New York, Nov. 14.—The bond market presented a firm undertone to-day, holding the gains made in the previous session which marked a definite upturn, after steadily declining nearly a fortnight.

Bond traders were much encouraged by the improvement, which was anticipated in view of the greater stability shown by stocks.

The unsettled conditions have brought corporate financing virtually to a standstill. The week's total of $16,664,000, consisting almost entirely of municipal issues, ranked with the smallest of the year and compared with $34,625,000 last week and 249,931,000 a year ago. Offering of many issues has been held up awaiting improvement in the market.

High-grade railroad and utility bonds were in demand around their previous closing prices and variations were very small. Foreign bonds were quiet and little changed. United States Government issues were easier on balance.

CANADA MARKET AVERAGES SHOW BETTER THAN N.Y.

Montreal Nov. 14. — Holding firm right to the close, the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day saw several important advances.

Canada Car, the annual report of which was issued to-day, advanced a point, and the preferred 1¼ points. The report showed earnings almost up to last year.

McColl Frontenac was surprisingly strong in view of the fact that no business news was associated with the company. It advanced to 21 and closed at 20 for a net gain of 3⅝ points.

Canadian Pacific was 1½ higher at 44 and Smelters 4 higher at 144, after having touched 148.

Brazilian at the close was up ½ at 26⅜ Nickel was ¼ better at 19⅞, and Montreal power unchanged at 55¼.

Dominion Textile gained 1½ to 78 and Shawinigan ¼ to 50¼. Atlantic Sugar preferred, down 2 and 40, and Bank of Commerce off 3 at 225, were among the greatest losers during the day.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Individual Canadian securities in a few instances sustained substantial losses during the last month and before the upturn came this week, but on the whole the market here has offered much greater resistance than in the United States.

Dow-Jones industrial average reached a new low for 1930 of 184.98 on October 22. This low was surpassed on November 5, when the price average dropped almost 6 points to 179.81 and again yesterday when the average dropped more than 6 points to 174.38, the lowest since July 14, 1927. Both Montreal and Toronto reached their lows for 1930 on October 22, when the respective weighted indexes of The Financial News Bureau dropped to 60 and 67. From then on the Canadian markets have given a much better performance than New York.

When Wall Street dropped 6 points to a new low on Wednesday of last week, Montreal and Toronto dropped a point, remaining 3 to 4 points above the low for the year touched October 22. Last Friday Wall Street again dropped over 6 points to the extreme low for more than three years, while the weighted index for the Montreal exchange lost only a point and that for the Toronto exchange remained stationary, and at the close of the day both were 3 points above bottom for 1930.

The Montreal Gazette average for the Montreal Stock Exchange moved similarly to the weighted indexes of The Financial News Bureau. The Gazette average also touched bottom October 22, dropped only .32 on Wednesday and only .03 on Friday of last week.

SUGAR MARKET

New York, Nov. 14.—Raw sugar was firm [illegible] higher. There was good inquiry, but offerings were light and the only sale reported was 16,900 bags of Cuban for prompt shipment to a refiner at 3.45.

No changes occurred in the refined situation. Refiners continued to list at 4.75 for fine granulated, and reported moderate withdrawals on old contracts, while new business continued light and was easily supplied through second-hands at from 4.50 up to 4.62.

Mining Corporation Curtails at Cobalt, Increases Elsewhere

Toronto, Nov. 14.—The mining list was bid sharply higher in the last few minutes of trading to-day.

Nickel and Noranda advanced to finish fractionally above last night. Hudson Bay registered a gain of 1.00 and Amulet, Abana, Waite and White Lake closed up 1 to 7 each. Lindsleys, with the exception of Sudbury Basin, which closed unchanged, were a strong group, Ventures, Sherritt-Gordon and Falconbridge, standing up from 8 to 20 each on end.

Lower-priced golds met improved demand, Wright-Hargreaves, touching a high of $1.82 on announcement of dividend resumption, was up 6 on the day.

Big Missouri advanced a like amount.

Oils were relatively quiet and mixed in trend.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—(Miller, Court Service)—Mining Corporation of Canada, Limited, in the quarterly report for the three months, July, August and September, announce production for the period from Cobalt properties at 122,782 ounces of silver and 33,643 pounds of cobalt. This compares with the previous quarter's production of 146,843 ounces. Other properties had a production of 174,897 ounces and 95,881 pounds of cobalt, compared with 100,127 ounces of silver and 57,349 pounds cobalt in the previous quarter.

PRODUCTION WANES

The Mining Corporation report summed up indicates that the Cobalt properties including the Townsite City, Buffalo, Cobalt Lake and McKinley-Darragh are steadily in the wane with operations being gradually curtailed. Darragh are steadily on the wane with operations being gradually curtailed. However, the increasing production from other properties is a brightening feature. Whereas the former fell off by some 22,000 ounces of silver, the latter properties showed a surprising increase.

COBALT PROPERTIES

The Cobalt properties have a small tonnage of cobalt and silver remaining which is being hand-sorted at a narrow margin of profit. However, whereas three months ago the Mining Corporation report talked with enthusiasm of the Frontier property, where the Watson vein was proving wider and richer, the official statement now describes it as "having continued to exceed expectations." It is probable production will continue well into 1931 from the Frontier.

QUEMONT

At the Quemont, working the old Murray property in Rouyn camp, a further 4,366 feet of diamond drilling was completed in the quarter. Some mineralization was intersected west of the diabase dike but no commercial ore was found. Work was suspended at the end of August until such time as development on neighboring properties or the price of copper justifies further expenditure.

Mining Corporation also controls the Mincor Exploration and Development Company Limited, with properties in Sudbury district. After examination and geological mapping of these, some of the less favorably situated claims were allowed to lapse.

Base Metals Mining Corporation Limited, in B.C., is another of the company's larger interests, as they hold some 700,000 shares of the 2,000,000 issued, the balance of 1,100,000 resting with Goldfields Consolidated. Base Metals mill recently closed, the management deeming it advisable to discontinue production during the coming quarter and concentrate on mine development, although a small profit on operations can still be attained at present metal prices. Satisfactory results have marked development, and it is stated that Metallurgical results continue to establish new records in extraction as well as in grade of lead and zinc concentrates. Such results may carry important features when production resumes.

BIG MISSOURI SOARS TO 51 IN VANCOUVER

Fast Bullish Market Rules Again To-day; Some Oils Also Active

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—Improved copper prices and better mining market sentiment generally was reflected strongly in Big Missouri to-day when, during the forenoon session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange, the stock sold up to 51 and was the leading metal trader around 50.

Premier Gold was also in good demand, selling at 75 all morning.

Woodbine improved fractionally to 1½, and Porter Idaho was firm.

The oil leaders also gave good accounts of themselves in somewhat narrow trading, Home selling at 2.30 and 2.35. East Crest at 79 and Mayland standing at 96, bid, with stock offered at 98. In each case little stock was brought out.

A. P. Consolidated was held tightly around 36, and Calmont looked stronger with a spread between 36 and 39. C. and E. sold at 58 and Royalite at 18.55.

There was little change in Amalgamated and Crow's Nest, both stocks holding around 8½ to 9.

This proves both the extraordinary popularity and magnitude of operation bus travel has attained.

To-day everyone rides the big safety coaches. And they like it. For, from time immemorial, "The King's Highway" has offered fascination, mystery and romance. A wayside house, a certain twisted tree, a famous hill, "what's round the corner?" Each has its story.

Then the material side—Safety, Convenience, Comfort, Economy. So you see it is easily explained.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

New York, Nov. 14.—Whitney of Wall Street Financial Bureau says:

RALLY COMPLETED, BUYING POINT CLOSE

"I believe the additional movement on the upside, which was pointed out yesterday as that which would be seen before the rally completion, has taken place, and that we are now in a position to arrive at some pretty definite conclusions as to how thoroughly the momentum of fourteen months' decline in the market has been broken up.

"Some good selling reappeared in yesterday's session, and will undoubtedly be the means of bringing about what moderate decline is to be expected between now and the time the market shows us that it does not intend to go through the bottoms established early this week. In so far as this feature of selling is concerned, however, think you are going to find that from now on it will have neither the large quantity nor urgency which has characterized the past, and that, instead of taking place at the market's low points, it will await the more advantageous levels provided by rallies such as we have seen in the last two days. In other words, the feature of liquidation which has been stressed here so repeatedly for many weeks is rapidly drying up, as well as beginning to be a little more particular as to where it takes place.

"Half of the rise anticipated here for next Tuesday in copper metal prices has already come in the one-quarter-cent advance of yesterday, which was accompanied by widespread reports that a 12-cent level would be established for the metal. I understand, however, that producers will be entirely satisfied with a 10½ cent price, if it could be maintained there, as they are not entirely unmindful of the fact that the entire set of negotiations between leading factors of the industry, in so far as the control in this country is concerned, presents some legal doubts as to the accomplishment of what they hope to do. In a broader sense, however, the whole thing is a very satisfactory development as it draws attention to the strong possibility of a period of stabilization in here extending pretty well throughout the whole commodity list, this providing a good deal of encouragement to those who believe that business recovery definitely necessitates stabilization, if not mild advance, in commodities—a not unreasonable theory.

"I can only repeat that we are being presented with the characteristic intermingling of unfavorable and favorable factors that accompany the formation of a bear market bottom, which means that with the retracement movement from the initial rally which we have just been through, will come a good buying spot.

"At the moment, believe the place to do it will be at approximately the levels seen earlier this week, which I think will be presented to you within the next two or three days."

Saturday Post Starts Great Ad Campaign

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—An extensive advertising campaign in magazines and newspapers is announced to-day by the Curtis Publishing Company, publisher of the Saturday Evening Post.

The campaign, opening to-day, will take the form of full page advertisements of the Saturday Evening Post in newspapers in key cities from coast to coast and in national magazines.

The Curtis Publishing Company, in announcing its plan, stated its belief that the time has come to establish larger advertising appropriations to stimulate business and that in its opinion there has rarely been a better time for extensive advertising, backed up by aggressive selling methods.

FOREIGN COPPER PRICE INCREASED

New York, Nov. 14.—Copper Exporters Incorporated, to-day increased the export price of copper ½ cent to 10.3 cents a pound, c.i.f. European base ports.

The advance brought the foreign price of the metal in line with domestic price of 10 cents a pound, established yesterday by an increase of ½ cent.

Bonds Selling Above Their "Call"

During a period of declining interest rates, such as we are now experiencing, many governments and corporations "call" or redeem outstanding bond issues and refund the debt by issuing new bonds bearing a lower interest rate.

As they may be called at any time bonds selling above their redemption price should be avoided. Should any of these issues be called in it would mean a loss to any holder who had bought at the high price, or a loss of a possible profit for any investor who did not accept the opportunity to sell.

This is one of many reasons why we believe investors should make a special study of their investment holdings at the present time. We shall be pleased to assist investors make such studies without obligation.

12-CENT COPPER PUSHES STOCKS STILL HIGHER

For Fourth Day in Succession Industrial Averages Make Unbroken Gains

Metal Company Shares All Buoyant; General News Constructive

New York, Nov. 14 (Branson, Brown).—At the close of the market this afternoon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials stood at 184.03, up 3.65 points for the day; for 20 rails at 107.80, up 1.37 points, and for 20 utilities at 65.75, up 1.64 points.

Sales for the day totaled 2,635,400 shares.

With copper metal rising another cent a pound to 12 cents, the bulls had lots of encouragement to whoop it up again to-day.

Copper sales were quoted at 12 cents a pound in the latter part of the day, and all producers were asking 12 cents a pound delivered to the end of this month and getting it.

Anaconda continued its rise, moving to-day from 38⅝ to 41¾.

Kennecott went up from 29⅞ to 32¼.

Granby shot up from 17 to 21, which compares with the low for the year made not long ago of 12.

Howe Sound rose from 24⅞ to 27¾.

In the steels, U.S. Steel common made a new high on the recovery at 146¼, while Bethlehem Steel stepped up from 62¾ to 65¼.

Until Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, industrials used in the Dow Jones averages had not enjoyed three consecutive sessions of rising prices since mid-August. To-day's strong market makes the fourth consecutive day of rise in the averages.

Overnight news was highly constructive, recording a new low in brokers' loans and agreement on the programme to curtail copper output.

There was some profit-taking in the market early, but it was absorbed and the market marched on upwards.

International Nickel and subsidiaries in the third quarter earned 10 cents a share on 14,384,025 common shares, compared with 20 cents a share on 13,758,208 shares in the 1929 quarter. Earnings for the first nine months of this year are at the rate of 58 cents a share on the average number of shares, against $1.11 a share in the first nine months of last year.

METAL PRODUCTS WIDER USE NOW BEING SOUGHT

Scientists and Engineers Active in Great Research Work

Taking advantage of the current letdown in business activity scientists and engineers in the metal-working industries are doing research work to create new products in the form of metals, alloys and colors for industrial and domestic use, according to a report of a joint survey recently completed by two publications, American Machinist and Product Engineering. The survey showed that of 31,049 plants with annual products valued at $15,938,000,856, more than 80 per cent. are devoting more attention to new designs and developments than they did a year ago, and 99 per cent. plan to work on the development of new products within the next six months.

The importance of new developments in this field is stressed through the calling of attention to the increase in the use of molded parts, stainless steel, aluminum and chromium plate in the last few years. The use of molded parts, the report discloses, has increased from 5,000,000 pounds of plastics in 1918 to 36,000,000 pounds last year.

STAINLESS STEEL

"Stainless steel, which made its first appearance generally in industry four or five years ago," says the report, "is another material which has demonstrated its growing usefulness. Originally used for a few kitchen appliances, it has grown to be important in the manufacture of many products. Its newer applications to-day include use in the making of hydraulic machinery, railway motor cars, wood-working, can-making, food, pneumatic, shoe, paper and filtration machinery, welders, mining machinery, automobile and airplane parts and equipment, hardware and guns, high-pressure valves, hat shrinking and textile machinery, gasoline pumps and dispensing devices, electric railway apparatus, pharmaceuticals, sporting goods, water systems and electrical and pneumatic portable tools.

ALUMINUM AND ALLOYS

"Aluminum and its alloys, originally reaching their highest total of use in the kitchen, also have come to the fore-front of materials used in manufacture. The pots and pans which once used up most of the aluminum produced have given way to a multiplicity of applications of aluminum in the metal-working field. High-voltage equipment and electric motors are two products in which aluminum is used to-day. It is important in the manufacture of airplanes and is utilized in the construction of railway cars and locomotives. Other uses range from construction equipment, chemical machinery and apparatus and foundry equipment to steel furniture, power transmission equipment, oil burners, top electrical trains, welders, spray painting equipment, electric typewriters and calculators.

"Chromium plating, to-day an important medium in the field of design and manufacture, has grown in three or four years from a place confined exclusively to the automobile field. Now the designer in the metal-working industries utilizes chromium in more than 100 kinds of products. It is used in locks, electrical wiring devices, bearings, fittings for welded pipe lines, water softeners, cameras, radio, cars and locomotives, motor trucks, vans and buses, electrical refrigerator apparatus, forging machinery, light therapy equipment, aeronautical instruments, airplanes, metal specialties, plumbing fixtures, silver and plated ware, electrical portable tools, store and building equipment, sewing machines, fishing tackle and skates, kitchenware, agricultural machinery and many other products intended for the home and the factory."

One of the new stocks which has thus far come through with a good market record, is Conduits Company Limited. In August, 1927, preference stock of this company was sold at $100 per share of preference. The shares were listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange. The preference sold at 92, but quickly advanced to over par, and lately has been quoted well up to its call price of 110.

The common stock, which is illustrated by the chart, had an unusual advance, moving from 23 up to 80. In 1928 it was split five-for-one, and the new stock quickly sold from a low of 13 up to about 25. It weakened a little in the depressed stock markets of 1929, but has held fairly well this year, the 1930 range to the end of October being 18 high and 13 low.

The company owns and operates a plant in Toronto for the manufacture of electrical conduits, etc., and has branch offices in Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver.

By a plan of recapitalization adopted October 28, the old preferred stock is all paid off in cash. Common shareholders receive one share of new common in exchange for each share of old common, also $2.50 cash, and one-twenty-fourth share of a new issue of 7 per cent preferred. Taking the new preferred at a value of par, this works out at a bonus of $6.67 per share of common. The new capitalization is $250,000 of 7 per cent preferred and 60,000 shares of common. The dividend rate on the common is $1 a year.

N.Y. Market Gossip

Seaboard Airline Railway—Representatives of the committees formed recently to help devise a plan for meeting the difficulties of the Seaboard Airline Railway met yesterday in the offices of Coverdale & Colpitts, and discussed a proposal for the extension of $7,500,000 of 5 per cent secured notes due on February 21. One suggestion was that the interest rate be increased to 6 per cent in return for an extension of time. Such a proposal has been made to holders of the notes. Meeting of the $7,500,000 maturity is the chief difficulty confronted by the Seaboard committees. There is also a maturity on January 1, of $1,000,000 first mortgage extended 5's of the Raleigh & Augusta Airline Railroad, on July 1 $2,500,000 made for the Seaboard in the pooling of passenger trains with roads serving Florida, such as the Atlantic Coast Line. In view of the decline in passenger resort traffic on roads in the east last summer there is some question as to how Florida traffic will hold up this winter.

Manhattan Railways—The impression was gained at the annual meeting of the Manhattan Railway's stockholders yesterday that the directors are going to get down to brass tacks with the Interborough, lessor of the road, in order to find out what is owing to Manhattan stockholders and take steps to secure payment. The showing of the Manhattan and of the Interborough, for that matter, are said to date back to the war years. Following the rich years prior to 1914, the Interborough ran over its estimate in building extensions due to war time inflation in prices, it is recalled. The resultant indebtedness played havoc with earnings on the stock but the Manhattan Modified guaranteed stock dividends were continued until July 1, 1928. The objections raised by the Transit Company to Interborough accounting in that year are said to have resulted indirectly in suspending the Manhattan Modified guaranteed dividends formerly at the rate of $5.00 annually. In 1929 only $3.75 a share was paid, and in the current year 80 cents has been paid on this stock.

Chicago & Alton Railroad—A public auction sale of the Chicago & Alton Railroad and all its mortgaged property was set for December 11, in an announcement yesterday by Herbert A. Lundahl, special master for the federal district court in Chicago. The sale is in accordance with the final decree October 1, on the case of the Texas Company and other mortgagees against the railroad and offers to the highest bidder the various rail line owned by the Chicago & Alton, its leases on other lines, millions of dollars in securities, bills and accounts receivable, cash and other properties. The Chicago & Alton has been in receivership since 1922 and it has been valued at $125,000,000.

Sinclair Oil—Negotiations for a merger of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation and the Prairie Oil & Gas Company have been discontinued, Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the board of directors of the Sinclair Company announced yesterday. No comment was available from the Tidewater officials yesterday as to the possible effect of Sinclair's action on the pending arrangements between the companies. Tidewater is currently negotiating for the purchase of the assets and property of the Richfield Oil Company of California. The reasons for the dropping of the Prairie merger plans was thought in some quarters to have been more than the depression of Sinclair securities in the stock market than inability to reach an agreement on the relative values of the properties. It was thought that a merger at the present time would require more Sinclair stock than the company would be willing to give, the shares having depreciated more than the relative values of the properties have changed.

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES NOW BUYING STOCKS

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—Fire insurance companies have been heavy purchasers of common stocks during the past few weeks, according to reports received by S. W. Straus & Co., sponsors of Super-corporations of America Trust Shares to-day.

During the week ended October 17 fire insurance companies invested $3,160,000 in stocks and bonds, the majority of it went into industrial and railroad common stocks. The following week $2,220,958 worth of common stocks were purchased, the bulk going into railroad and industrial shares.

During the week ended October 31, a sum of $2,441,362 was invested in common stocks, with the largest proportion being placed in industrials and rails.

"Fire insurance companies have been outstanding in their conservative and accurate choice of investments over the past many years," stated Leigh M. Battson, executive vice-president of S. W. Straus & Co., in charge of the Pacific Coast.

"The choice of securities in Super-corporations of America Trust Shares closely follows those securities which have been favored by insurance companies as investment mediums and which have had excellent records during past periods of inflation and deflation."

The American Life Insurance Convention in Chicago, through its committee on investments, recently issued a statement advising executives of important companies to buy rather than to sell stocks, being their recommendation upon the probabilities that the next change in economic conditions will tend to cause stocks to rise in value.

Standard Oil Co. of California and American Can Co., which have both stockholders, are included in Super-corporations of America Trust Shares.

S. W. Straus & Co. since creating Super-corporations of America in May of this year, has distributed more than $20,000,000 of these securities in all sections of the United States and recently made substantial disbursements on both the series "A" and series "B" shares.

CHAPTER VIII

Gillian heard the day-girl taking down the shutters and talking to Gipsy Johnson at the front door. He was a strange messenger of love, with his curious medley of garments, his rings, his dirty face and unmistakable aroma of the real nomad. Gillian looked out of her window. Gipsy Johnson looked up. In one dark glance he had photographed her on his mind; wherever she was, in whatever company or dress, he would know her again. Gillian thought, "There's a poor forsaken gipsy, like them as passes, spring and fall of the leaf." She threw him a penny. He stooped with servile haste and picked it up. Round the corner he laughed very softly. There is one quality in life that gipsies appreciate more than ordinary country folk—irony. The girl was virtually his prisoner. She was his friend's girl. She was to be kept safe for his friend, with her will or without it. He cared nothing for that. He might be giving her the heart's desire, or the dregs of hell. She threw him a penny, and undisturbed, unconscious, she hung her cornelian heart about her neck, and ran down to make the toast.

"Can I learn the piano proper, A'ntie?"

"Yes. I'd thought you'd best make the most of opportunity. Lost time ticks in hell. Never waste time. If poor Emily'd learnt, she'd have done great things in the world, I make no doubt."

"Can I begin to-day?"

"I'll think about it."

"Who'll learn me, A'ntie?"

"There's a very fine lady—"

"A lady!"

"A lady!"

"You cry out as if you're hurt, Juliana."

Gillian bent lower over the toast. Those dreams of a pale young organist with flowing hair and delicate fingers, who would fall in love with her, but whom she would scorn—where were they?

"She's our cousin to Mr. Gentle. They're a very gifted family."

So Gillian went, after breakfast, with her aunt, and had her first music lesson. And when she had wandered through the market and seen the shops and helped her aunt to make apple dumplings and had dinner, she began to long for evening and Mr. Gentle. At least he would be some one to experiment with. She went up to her room and put on the pink blouse for tea. The gas lamps were being lit, and purple dusk was gathering. She had read the Parish Magazine from cover to cover. She had practiced her scales. Down she ran, vivid with excitement. When she flushed and her eyes shone, her scar and her high nose were forgotten. Tea was in the parlor in honor of Mr. Gentle. There were rock buns and cream buns and many delights. Aunt Emily wore lavender poplin with a lace collar. Her hair was done so as to disguise its greyness. She wore a cameo brooch, and had scent on her handkerchief. The three women hurried to and fro, altering a spoon here, a plate there, rearranging the bunch of laurustinus on the table, poking the fire. If Mr. Gentle could have seen them, he would have been much embarrassed. He was so very unassuming, in spite of his royal appearance.

Steps! A halt! The bell! Gillian was in the hall in a flash.

She opened the door. There stood Charles the First.

"Come in, Mr. Gentle," said she. "I'm A'nt Emily's niece, as maybe you know."

Mr. Gentle made a most beautiful bow.

"I am indeed honored and delighted, Miss Lovekin," he said.

The bald spot on his head was apparent when he bowed. But when he stood up Gillian saw it no more, and forgot it.

"Emily!" said Mr. Gentle, and he bowed again. "I'm glad to see you so well; if I may say it, so charming."

Mr. Gentle did not speak the language of Silverton. He had a small library of his grandfather's books: therein he read indefatigably, and therein he found his phrases. And Mrs. Fanteague said, even if he lacked words, looks would carry him through. He wore a very high Gladstone collar, a made tie, a white waistcoat and a cut-away coat. eH had cuffs.

Gillian knew that he would have thought Robert very common, for when asked what he would have, he said he would take a little preserve. Robert would have said: "Jam, thank you kindly," and ladled it on to his plate.

Mr. Gentle did not seem to care whether he had any or not. It amazed Gillian.

"How many songs can you sing, Mr. Gentle?" she asked.

"Well, Miss Lovekin, I have six in my portfolio, but we usually content ourselves with two. Two is our limit, I think, Emily?"

Emily said yes.

"But to-night let's have 'em all!" begged Gillian. "And if you're hoarse I've got some liquorice as Robert bought me."

"Who's Robert, dear?"

This from Emily, who felt that she had a corner in romance to-night.

Mr. Gentle looked roguish.

"Oh, Robert's only cowman-shepherd," said Gillian.

Mr. Gentle's manner showed that the liquorice of a cowman-shepherd could never soothe the larynx of a Charles the First.

"If Emily will accompany me, I will sing "Queen of the Earth" as a beginning," he said.

Emily would.

Mr. Gentle's voice trembled a little, it was slightly falsetto. The pathos of it, of Emily, poor sad Emily, as Queen of the Earth, of Mr. Gentle as a lover—poor Mr. Gentle, who in all his fifty-five years had never felt the divine fire, never been tempted to swerve from good manners—was entirely lost on Gillian. For many years had he sung this, not even meanwhile making Emily queen of his own home. To Gillian they were enigmas. She was impatient. She evolved an amusing plan. It occurred to her when Mr. Gentle was singing "Oh! that we two were maying."

She would make Mr. Gentle sing it as a duet with her. He should take her up river in a boat. Emily should not come. She would see if she could make Mr. Gentle flush as Robert had flushed, make him angry, make his hand tremble as Robert's had done at the Junction. If she were Aunt Emily she would soon make Mr. Gentle propose. It was silly of Aunt Emily.

"Maybe if I get 'im to tell it over to me, he'll tell it over to Aunt Emily after," she said. But in her heart she knew that she was mean. What business had she to trouble this middle-aged man, this forlorn woman, both content to stay forever in their backwater?

Conscience, like a tolling bell, warned her; but she would not hear its plaintive note. She hardened herself as she had done when she cut off the head of the slatey drake. She was a child of sin. Was she not scarred? She would play the devil's May-games with Mr. Gentle, with Robert, with anybody. Only in Robert there was something obdurate, a hardness more adamantine than her own, but of a different quality. Mr. Gentle sang all his songs. The last was "Annie Laurie," to which he played his own accompaniment. While he sang his eyes dwelt on Gillian. Aunt Emily did not know, because she always listened with hers shut.

Mrs. Fanteague yawned a good deal during the singing, and said very promptly after "Annie Laurie":

"Now for our reading."

They were in the Fourth Book of Crabbe's Collected Works. Mr. Gentle read very mellifluously. While he read, Gillian plotted how she would make him fall in love with her. If there had been a pale musician, anybody, except the unapproachable curate, she would have let him alone. Even now, when she looked long at him, she quailed. But she decided to victimize him.

Crabbe was over. The tray was fetched by Gillian from the kitchen. After supper, all being much more flippant—for, as Aunt Emily said, cocoa is very heartening—they played round games.

They played: "This is the one-horned lady (or gentleman) very genteel, come to inquire of the two-horned lady."

(To Be Continued)

One oil company is planning a 550-mile pipeline costing $5,000,000 and capable of moving 15,000 barrels daily from its plant in Pennsylvanit to Lake Erie shore cities.

THE BIDDING

At contract, South, the dealer, opens with one heart, West overcalls with two clubs, North three hearts and South takes the contract to four hearts. The auction bidding would be practically the same except that South would not increase North's overcall.

THE PLAY

West's correct opening is the king of clubs, dummy plays the deuce, East follows with the ten spot, declarer with the five. West continues with the ace of clubs and then the four of clubs, which East wins with the queen. East returns the jack of spades, which the declarer allows to ride to the dummy's king. A small heart is led from dummy and the ten spot finesse is taken, West shows out, discarding the deuce of diamonds.

The declarer already has lost three club tricks and in order to go game must pick the king of hearts. The only possible chance he has is to find the queen of diamonds in the West hand, therefore the small diamond is led. When West plays the three, the jack finesse is taken, which holds the trick.

The five of hearts is returned and the eight spot finesse taken. Declarer returns the king of diamonds, overtaking in the dummy with the ace and leads another heart, East playing the nine, declarer the jack. East's king can now be picked up with the declarer's ace.

By treating the king of diamonds as a small card, declarer has succeeded in making four odd and going game.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily Locked Out

(Copyright, 1930).

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Why, Nurse Jane!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears, hopping into the kitchen of the hollow stump bungalow one day. "Whatever is the matter?"

Well might the rabbit lady ask that, for she saw the muskrat lady housekeeper sitting down in a chair. Nurse Jane never did this unless something was the matter, for she was a busy worker. And, just now, something seemed to be wrong. For the kitchen was all topsy turvy with tins and dishes and spoons and an egg beater scattered about it.

"I started to make a molasses ginger cake, to keep the children warm this cold day," said Nurse Jane, still sitting in the chair. "But I had to stop."

"Don't you feel well?" asked Mrs. Longears, anxiously. "Oh, Nurse Jane! I'm so sorry! You had better hop right up to bed and I'll send for Dr. Possum. I'll finish making the molasses ginger cake, too."

"No, you can't!" squeaked Nurse Jane with a laugh. "There is nothing the matter with me. I'm all right."

"Then why did you have to stop making the cake and sit down?" the rabbit wife of Uncle Wiggily has to know.

"Because," answered Nurse Jane, "I found, when I started to make the cake, that I had no molasses. So I had to stop and sit down. Uncle Wiggily has taken the jug and gone to the store to get me the molasses. I think he must be coming back in a little while, and then I will finish the cake."

"Oh, then everything is all right," said Mrs. Longears. "No wonder you are sitting down. But I hope Uncle Wiggily comes home soon with the molasses. It has turned very cold and a shivering wind is blowing. He didn't wear his extra fur coat, either, for it was warm when he started out. I hope he comes soon."

"Yes, he ought to be hopping along soon, now," spoke Nurse Jane, as she hopped up to look out of a window across the field over which the rabbit gentleman always came home.

Then, all of a sudden, as Mr. Longears gazed from the window she exclaimed:

"Here comes somebody now, but it doesn't look like Uncle Wiggily."

"Where?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Over there, by the trees on the edge of the woods," went on Mrs. Longears. "Who can it be?"

"It isn't Uncle Wiggily, that's sure," added Nurse Jane. "It looks to me like a tramp dog."

"Or like a big pile of leaves," added Mrs Longears.

"A pile of leaves wouldn't have legs," spoke the muskrat lady. "And whoever that is, coming this way, he has legs. Oh, I'm sure it's a tramp dog! We'd better lock the doors."

"Yes, indeed!" said Mrs. Longears. So the muskrat lady and the rabbit lady locked the bungalow doors and then went back to the kitchen window to watch the strange figure coming across the lots. All the rabbit children, and Baby Bunty, were still at school.

"Why, he's coming right here—whoever that tramp dog is!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears as the queer figure hopped nearer.

"And it looks more like a pile of leaves than ever!" said Nurse Jane. "Oh, what can it be?"

Just then some one rattled the knob and tried to open the door, but it was locked. Then a voice called:

"Let me in! Let me in! What's the idea of locking me out?"

"Go on away, tramp dog!" squeaked Nurse Jane.

"Who are you?" asked Mrs. Longears, bravely.

Here comes somebody now!"

"Why, I am Uncle Wiggily!" answered the voice. "Ha! Ha! Don't you know your own husband, Mrs. Longears?"

"You aren't her husband," cried Nurse Jane.

"You aren't Uncle Wiggily," said Mrs. Longears. "Go on away or I'll call the police dog."

"Nonsense! Of course I'm Uncle Wiggily!" answered the voice of the bunny creature at the locked door. "I guess you don't know me because I have on a new coat of leaves. Listen! When I was coming home with the molasses for Nurse Jane, the wind blew so hard and I was so cold, for I had no extra fur coat, that I shivered and shook. I set the molasses jug down in some dried leaves and I saw how they stuck to the jug to keep it warm. The leaves made a fuzzy, warm coat.

"So I poured some molasses on a pile of leaves and rolled myself in them. They stuck to me and made me a warm, fuzzy coat and now I'm as cozy as can be. Let me in and when I take off my coat of molasses leaves you will see that I am Uncle Wiggily."

Timidly the animal ladies unlocked the door, and the strange leaf covered creature came in. But, when some leaves were pulled off, surely enough there was Uncle Wiggily. And, how glad his wife and Nurse Jane were.

"Here's the molasses," said the bunny gentleman. Nurse Jane made the cake. Mr. Longears washed the sticky stuff off and all was well.

So if the moving picture girl will put some red paint on a snowball to make it look like a rosy apple, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's baked potato.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing, and fear catarrhal deafness, or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to take. Anyone who is threatened with catarrhal deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial. (Advt.)

Horoscope

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1930

Astrologers read this as a fairly favorable day in planetary direction. It is a time to close the week's affairs with a feeling of duty well performed.

For lawyers and leaders of thought generally there is a sign of much promise, for they are to be called on for counsel.

This is read as a favorable day for projecting any sort of a constructive idea. It is lucky for those who ask advice and follow it when it points the right way.

The day is propitious for association with persons of large influence. Under this rule social contacts may be especially valuable.

There is rather a sinister sign for travel by air. It is well to heed the weather signals.

Warning is given that much hostile propaganda will be circulated at this time, when enemies of the United States Government may meet secretly.

Criticism is believed to be more widespread under this planetary government than under others, for esotism is stimulated and it is easy to see other persons' faults.

Curb of speech that is not pleasant or kindly is advised at this time, when there will be libel suits and accusations of slander.

This is not an auspicious sway under which to make new friends, especially if they are of the opposite sex, for faults and shortcomings are supposed to be more conspicuous than ordinarily.

Music is well aspected at this time, when artists will be numerous and public taste more exacting than it has been under the academic influence of jazz.

Development in the "mechanization" of the army and the expansion of the air forces is foretold for Great Britain by a London astrologer.

Under this sway the Prince of Wales will confront a serious problem, the seers prognosticate. The most momentous decision of his life is presaged.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of progress and prosperity. It is well to avoid scandal with special care and to push business.

Children born on this day probably will be practical as well as highly intellectual. Many scientists are born under this sign. Sir William Herschel, distinguished astronomer, was born on this day, 1738.

Giving Marriage a Fair Trial

Dorothy Dix

Urges Trial Separations for Divorce

"Would That All Couples Who Have That Tired Feeling Toward Those to Whom They Are Married, Would Try to See What Space and Distance Would Do for Them Before They Broke Up"

ACCORDING to the newspapers, a socially and financially important husband and wife are indulging in a trial separation in order to determine whether they really want to divorce each other or not.

Fine idea. Would that all couples who have got that tired feeling toward those to whom they are married and who are suffering from attacks of affinitis or incompatibility of temper or what have you, would try to see what space and distance would do for them before they broke up their homes and half-orphaned their children.

Believe me, it would save many a futile and bitter regret and a lot of alimony. For it would give yokemates a chance to slip their collars long enough for the galled places to heal. It would let the fighting husbands and wives get far enough away from their grievances to get a perspective on them, so that they could see that they had been making mountains out of molehills. And, above all, it would enable them to determine whether in exchanging their old troubles for new they were making such a good bargain after all.

To the unhappily married, divorce seems an Elysium, with never a cloud to mar its sunshine, with not even a crumpled rose leaf under its forty mattresses of ease. The man who drew a nagging and fretful wife in the matrimonial lottery; the man who is united to a jealous woman who raises ructions if he so much as looks at another petticoat; the man who has got a jailer for a wife, feels that if only he could get rid of her and be free to come and go as he pleases without having to furnish an alibi every minute that he was away from home, he would be perfectly happy and ask no other boon of heaven.

The woman who is married to a grouchy and sullen man; the woman who is married to a tightwad; the woman who has a philanderer for a husband thinks that if she didn't have to look another time at Gloomy Gus, or listen to him knocking everything that she does and leaves undone, or if she didn't have to lie awake at night wondering about the blond flapper with whom he was joyriding, or making whoopee in some night club, she would be perfectly blissful and have not a care nor a worry in the world.

So the disgruntled husband and wife rush to the divorce court as to a miracle shrine, in the full belief that a decree absolute carries with it some sort of supernatural power that blots out the past, that removes every grief and anxiety and confers peace and contentment upon those upon whom it has been bestowed.

But, alas, this is not the case. Divorce is one of the many things that are more alluring from the outside than from the inside. It cannot undo what has been done. It cannot banish memories. It cannot annihilate the children that have been born of marriage. It cannot heal broken hearts. It cannot restore their youth and optimism to a disillusioned middle-aged man or woman and make them a carefree boy and girl again.

If marriage is a disappointment to many men and women, divorce is an even greater disappointment to most of those who believe it a panacea for a marriage that has failed to come up to their ideal. Hence the wisdom of a temporary separation that enables a mismated couple to find out what divorce would mean to them and whether their domestic troubles really required a major surgical operation, or would yield to just a little local application.

The thing that causes more divorce than all other things combined is just that husbands and wives get fed up on each other. They have got overdoses of each other's society. They bore each other to tears and that is why they begin stepping out with other women and men. It is because they have become the thirty quails in thirty days to each other that makes them lose their taste for each other and start on a search for soulmates. It is because they have nothing new and pleasant to talk about that makes them quarrel to infuse a little pep into the conversation.

They live so close to each other that they can only see each other's imperfections. The man can only see how fat and old his wife has grown. The wife can only see how bald-headed and bald her husband has got. And so they decide to divorce each other, but a six-month separation would bring them together again as lovers. The husband would think his wife's kind old face, with a look of devotion in the eyes, more beautiful than any painted doll who had been trying to gold-dig him, and the wife would see in her husband once more the hero of her girlish dreams.

And the trial separation would teach both that whatever else marriage does to a man and woman it unfits them for the single life. The man would miss his home and his children. He would find that he didn't get much kick out of liberty when it meant that nobody cared whether he came home or not and that it was nobody's business whether he was sick or well. The woman would find out that the lot of the divorcee has just as many thorns in it as that of the wife; that she got a mighty cool welcome when she went back home, and that the most she would get out of her divorce would be the necessity of supporting herself and her children.

Wherefore, I urge every couple who are contemplating a divorce to try a six-month separation before they go to the lawyers. If they do, nine-tenths of them will go back sadder and wiser men and women and give marriage a fair trial for the first time.

NEW LOW FARES OVER U.S. LINE EFFECTIVE SOON

Reductions in fares between Seattle and Chicago and the placing of more equipment on the trains for the tourist class of travelers will commence over Great Northern lines on January 1, A. H. Hebb, local agent, was advised this morning by Seattle headquarters of his company. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad and the Northern Pacific are doing likewise.

The rates over the Great Northern system apply to only the coach and tourist sleeping cars, the Pullman fares not being effected. It is expected the new reduction will prove popular next summer when the tourist movement gets into full swing.

NEW SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED

Canadian National Winter Schedule to Northern British Columbia Effective Monday

The winter schedule of the Canadian National Steamships to northern British Columbia ports from Vancouver will go into effect on Monday evening next, it was learned in Victoria this morning. From then until the spring there will be only one sailing a week to the north. There will be no change in the tri-city schedule.

The steamer Prince George will leave Vancouver each Monday evening at 8 o'clock for Prince Rupert, Anyox, Stewart and other northern way points. She will return to Vancouver each Saturday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. The George will later be relieved by the Prince Rupert, which on Monday will be laid up for several weeks for annual overhaul. When she is placed on the run early in the New Year the Prince George will receive overhaul.

The Queen Charlotte Islands will be served by the steamer Prince William, operating direct from Prince Rupert. This will be a weekly service, sailing from Prince Rupert each Wednesday at 8 o'clock and after calling at numerous ports in the Islands the ship will return to Prince Rupert every Sunday morning. The sailing to the Islands on Wednesday evening is arranged so that passengers from Victoria and Vancouver, arriving in Prince Rupert by the Prince George on Wednesday mornings may make connections.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, Nov. 14.—The San Lucas, fifth vessel to enter the recently inaugurated American Flag service of the Pacific-Atlantic line to Europe, will lift cargo at Puget Sound ports beginning at Everett next Thursday. The line is now averaging a sailing about every three weeks.

W. G. Rogers, Yamashita Company freight agent, was elected president of the Seattle Maritime Association, a count of mailed ballots revealed yesterday. He succeeds J. R. Jones, Standard Oil Company marine superintendent.

F. M. Fenwick, San Francisco, vice-president and general manager of the Nelson line, and H. C. Van Doorn, New York, general freight agent of the same company, arrived yesterday to confer with Nelson line officials here.

Seattle, Nov. 13.—The fourth extra carrier named this season to carry the big apple and pear crop by the Royal Mail and Holland-American Lines, the refrigerator ship Navasota, is scheduled to start loading northwestern apples for Europe here January 15, Seattle headquarters announced yesterday. The Navasota will load 175,000 boxes of apples at Portland and Seattle for Liverpool, London, Rotterdam and Hamburg.

To be drydocked here for repairs, the steamship Northwestern of the Alaska Steamship Company, anchored at Dundas Bay, B.C., with her anchor gone, was to have been taken in tow by the tugs Creole and Douglas yesterday. No word has been heard yet.

Two Orient Liners Make Port To-day

President Lincoln Speeds Up and Docks This Afternoon; Canada Due To-night

Siamese Minister of War and Hollywood Movie Party Among Passengers on Ships

Two of the largest transpacific passenger liners in service between Victoria and the Orient are here to-day inbound from ports in the Philippine Islands, China and Japan. They are the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada and the American Mail liner President Lincoln.

To make way for the Empress of Canada, which will be unable to arrive until this evening, the President Lincoln was ordered to speed up her trip yesterday and dock here as early as possible to-day. Capt. Hugh L. Jones, the commander, acting on the advice, this morning advised W. M. Allan, local agent, that he would bring his ship in to the William Head quarantine station at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. This time was expected to bring the ship alongside the Rithet docks about an hour later. If cargo is discharged in time she will clear for Seattle about 5.30 o'clock.

SIAMESE MINISTER

Among the passengers aboard the President Lincoln this voyage are Mrs. Arthur Barrett, wife of the assistant manager of the Singer Sewing Machine Company of Shanghai, on a business trip to this continent; Mrs. James H. Clark, returning from Shanghai to her home in The Dalles, Oregon; Mrs. J. E. Covington, wife of the manager of the Universal Leaf Tobacco Company of Shanghai; Ekajay Kambhu Sone, Minister of War for Siam, en route to the Siamese Legation at Washington, D.C.; Kwan You and family of Seattle, returning from a trip to the Orient; Ling Tsi Yuen; a Chinese merchant of Tacoma, and Tom Hop Lai, a prominent merchant of New York city.

No further word having been received from Capt. A. J. Hailey, R.N.R., of the Empress of Canada, that ship is still expected to reach the quarantine station at 7 o'clock this evening and to dock at the Rithet piers about 8 o'clock. She has a fair list of passengers this trip, including a moving picture party from Hollywood who will probably debark here and proceed to Seattle en route south. The Canada has 160 tons of general cargo this voyage, including a shipment of Japanese oranges for local merchants. There are sixty-two passengers in the first class, several of whom will leave the ship here. The Canada will probably remain here until midnight to-night before proceeding to Vancouver, where she will dock first thing in the morning.

Northwestern Is Taken in Tow By Seattle Tugboats

Crippled Liner Will Be Brought From Alaska to Seattle For Repairs

Seattle, Nov. 14.—In tow of the tugs Creole and Douglas of the Puget Sound Tug & Barge Company, the crippled passenger liner Northwestern of the Alaska Steamship Company left Dundas Bay, Alaska, for Seattle at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. A radio message from Capt. C. A. Glasscock, the vessel's master, said the weather was fine. The tow from Dundas Bay to Seattle is expected to require five or six days.

The steamship Alameda of the Alaska Steamship Company arrived alongside the Northwestern early Wednesday morning, and after taking aboard the crippled ship's passengers and cargo, proceeded for Cordova and Seward.

The Northwestern lost her rudder November 6 two miles south of Cape Spencer, Alaska, while bound from Seattle for Southwestern Alaska. Fishing vessels towed the ship to Dundas Bay, where she awaited the arrival of the Alameda and the tugs from Seattle. The Northwestern will be placed in drydock at the Todd plant in Seattle for repairs.

SOME OLD-TIME SHIPS

NEW LIGHTSHIP FOR SANDHEADS

Strong Probability That Old Ship at Mouth of Fraser River Will Be Replaced

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—Shipping interests of B.C., who have for many years been asking for a better lightship at Fraser Sandheads, have now strong hopes of success. Hon. A. Duranleau, Minister of Marine, who considered the matter when here, is understood to be sympathetic, and this evening a joint meeting of New Westminster and Vancouver interests will be held to prepare a recommendation for the department.

The present lightship, now stationed on the north lip of the entrance to the river, is said to be in wrong position, and to be totally inadequate to the service required. All deep sea and coastwise shipping moving to and from Vancouver from the Island or Straits of Juan de Fuca or Puget Sound needs the sandheads lightship guidance.

The present craft is an old sealing schooner, with two masts, each carrying a lantern. These lights are not strong, and the foghorn of the vessel is also very weak.

Two-lantern lightships, it is said, are antiquated. All through European waters, on the Irish coast, and at Trinity House stations, the lights are single mast with powerful light, usually occulting, and being of actual lighthouse type. The foghorns are powerful diaphones. A ship of this type is urged for Fraser River sandheads. It is also suggested that the method of Ireland, England and the mainland of Europe of paying lightship keepers extra wages for time occupied in operating foghorns be adopted here.

It is suggested that the proposed new lightship be stationed farther off the mouth of the Fraser, and somewhat to the south, and that the entrance to the main channel be marked by a series of sound and light buoys.

STRONG WINDS DELAYED RUTH

Did Not Dock From California Ports Until 3 o'Clock This Morning

Delayed by stiff head winds off the coast of Washington all day yesterday, it was 3 o'clock this morning before the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Ruth Alexander docked here at the Rithet piers this morning from San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. The Ruth had a rough time of it yesterday, the winds creating great waves which tossed the ship around. It was not until the vessel had rounded Cape Flattery yesterday evening about 10 o'clock that things subsided.

The Victoria passengers remained aboard the ship all night and disembarkation commenced at 6 o'clock this morning. At 7 o'clock the ship left for Seattle, arriving there at noon. Among the passengers who left the liner here were Mrs. R. Ainsworth, Mrs. Helen Batchelor, Mrs. Eliza Bevis, Mrs. Julia F. Chivers, G. E. Crump, Mrs. A. R. Duncan, Mrs. J. L. Geddes, Miss Louise Love, Miss Renee Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morehead, Miss Lilly Morehead, Miss Patricia Morehead, H. L. McKnew, Mrs. C. W. Newbury, Mrs. A. Nichols, Luther Pateman, Jack Ryland, Mrs. B. Ryan, Mrs. G. J. Vaux, Miss Dorothy Waggett, Miss Eileen Wilcox, David Downey, John C. Jarvis, John Deacon, William McNary and Daniel Nendico.
